

North County's Building Bustle Fading Away

By DON MILLER

The sound of carpenters' hammers and power saws, long a familiar racket to North County residents, has been steadily fading away for the past two months.

For new home building has fallen off drastically during this period—a direct result of the tight money market that has savings and loan executives wearing long faces and workers in the construction trades idle. For the first time in years, craftsmen have been showing up at the San Mateo County

Labor Temple in San Mateo each morning looking for work.

Electricians, plumbers, carpenters and laborers, 536 have found the demand for their services has tailed off sharply. The reason is told graphically by building permit figures.

In Daly City, the north county's largest municipality, only 21 permits for new homes were issued in March and April, compared to 131 in the same two months last year.

Drastic Drop
South San Francisco reported an even more drastic drop. Only one permit was issued last month and two in March—compared to 38 for the same two month period a year ago.

The tight money market, the villain in the building slowdown, has resulted from a number of moves by bank regulations said authorities.

The trend started five months ago when the Federal Reserve Board boosted from 4 to 4½ per cent the discount rate at which commercial banks borrow from federal reserve banks.

Concurrent with this action, the board also raised the ceiling interest on certificates of deposit to 5½ per cent

The result of the discount rate action was an increase in the prime interest rate banks charge to their top customers. This is now 5½ per cent.

The ceiling boost action produced the more dramatic effect.

Eastern money, which had been flowing west to those California savings and loan association offering upwards of 5 per cent on deposits, stopped flowing.

In New York
Instead, it is being deposited in New York City commercial banks now offering 5 per cent on savings deposit certificates.

In addition, eastern funds that had been deposited in California are being withdrawn and deposited instead in New York.

As one north county banker put it "it doesn't make sense to an eastern depositor to leave his money in California any more when he can get the same interest rate in his home town."

The result of this reverse flow, coupled with the attraction of California commercial banks 5 per cent rate on deposit certificates has been a sharp blow to area savings and loans associations.

Since the associations traditionally have been the source of borrowing for real estate transactions and home-building, the drying up of old deposits and the fall in new deposits has sharply curtailed the associations' mortgage business.

To add to the association's woes, the Federal Home Loan banking board, which regulates savings and loan companies, no longer will lend funds to any association paying an interest rate of 5 per cent or more.

And, in addition, the board now closely reviews each application for borrowing from all the associations, rather than lending on the basis of a broad line of credit.

The effect of these policies, savings executives say, has been to further restrict the supply of funds savings and loan association must have to support their mortgage business.

The policies have evoked an outcry from the executives and from the California Savings and Loan League, the industry's trade organization.

Serramonte Not in Jeff School Zone

Members of the Ad Hoc Committee for Fair Housing in Serramonte, ready to demand that the Jefferson Union High School District halt its plans to build a high school in Serramonte, found out to its surprise last night that the school won't serve Serramonte residents.

This fact, explained by District Supt. Edward Morgan, also startled several members of the board of trustees.

The school will be built in the northwest portion of Serramonte. However, the homes in the subdivision, Morgan explained, will be situated in the South San Francisco High School District.

Morgan delineated the school boundaries after Mrs. Catherine Smallwood of 449 Santa Barbara Avenue, Daly City, representing the Ad Hoc Committee, read a prepared statement, calling upon the district to "spend no further public funds in Serramonte."

(Earlier in the meeting, the trustees learned that Suburban Realty, the subdivision developers, had agreed to sell a developed 54-acre site for Serramonte High School for $2,747,000.)

Mrs. Smallwood noted that attorneys for Suburban had admitted to the state's Fair Employment Practices Commission that the company "is following a strictly segregated policy."

She said that if the district did not halt plans for the new school, "we will have no recourse but to institute a taxpayers' suit."

It was at this point that Morgan informed Mrs. Smallwood that children living in Serramonte homes would be attending either South San Francisco or El Camino High Schools.

Dion Dubois, chairman of the Human Relations Committee of the Jefferson District Federation of Teachers, after expressing surprise at Morgan's statements, said that the district, nonetheless, has a precedent to take some kind of action.

He urged the board to write a letter to Sunstream Homes Inc., the home-building affiliate of Suburban, protesting "segregated policies."

Council Threatened With Taxpayers Suit

The Daly City Council last night was threatened with a taxpayers' suit by the Ad Hoc Committee For Fair Housing in Serramonte, if the council refused to act on a proposed resolution.

Court Topples Proposition 14

The California Supreme Court yesterday ruled unconstitutional the state law permitting racial discrimination in the sale and rental of privately owned real estate.

The action came too late for the Post to update earlier stories concerning racial disputes.

The new ruling is expected to have an immediate and profound effect in Daly City, where a current controversy concerns the sale of Serramonte subdivision homes to whites only.

A National Award For Post-Times

The Post-Times last week was honored with a major national award for its efforts in promoting the use of classified advertising.

The tribute was paid by Editor and Publisher, a leading national newspaper trade magazine. Only two other U.S. newspapers received awards in the circulation promotion category for under-100,000 circulation. First prize went to the Passaic, N.J., Herald-News. Sharing Certificate of Merit honors with The Post-Times was a neighboring suburban newspaper, the Palo Alto Times.

The Post-Times award-winning entry was a series of seven full-page ads published during International Want Ad Week, April 4-10, 1965.

lution to stop spending civic funds in the subdivision on grounds that the developers openly discriminate against racial minorities in the sale of homes.

The council refused to adopt—or even discuss—the resolution, proposed by Betsy Blom, 379 Irvington Street, a member of the Ad Hoc Committee.

The council also declined to answer a plea from Jefferson High School social studies teacher Dion Dubois that the body adopt a resolution simply condemning racial discrimination in Serramonte.

Mayor Albert Polonsky explained after the meeting that he felt it was not the council's business to take official stands on "moral issues."

Answering the committee's demand that the city stop spending money in Serramonte, City Attorney Paul Hupf explained that there are no legal grounds to do so.

"The field of subdivision development and incorporation belongs to the state," he said, adding that the city cannot set requirements that differ from those set forth in the state's Subdivision Map Act.

"Submission and approval of subdivision maps in Daly City is done in accordance with that act, and with Daly City ordinances established under provisions of the act," Hupf said.

Hupf also said that he could see no legal basis for a taxpayers' suit, in view of the state's limitation of the city's authority.

The delegation from the Ad Hoc Committee, their pleas met with complete silence by the council. (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

D.C. Patrolman's Condition Improves

Daly City Patrolman Richard Klass was reported "progressing very well" yesterday in Mary's Help Hospital after being shot last week while trying to apprehend an escaped prisoner.

Doctors operated Friday and removed Klass' spleen and a kidney. The extent of spinal damage, if any, had still not been determined yesterday.

At first, the 25-year-old patrolman experienced no feeling in the lower part of his body. But yesterday, according to a police bulletin, he had feeling in both legs and was able to move his hips, thighs and calves.

Klass was shot Friday morning by his own .38-caliber revolver.

The gun discharged during a violent sidewalk struggle, witnessed by scores of work-bound commuters on Mission Street in San Francisco, about a half-mile from the Daly City line.

Another officer escaped being shot when he grabbed the weapon from the prisoner's grasp as it was fired a second time.

The officer, Patrolman James Van Pelt, 27, suffered powder burns on his right hand when he grabbed the revolver. He was treated by a Daly City physician.

The prisoner, Leandro Andreas Sedeno, 32, of 16 Shakespear Street, Daly City, a convicted marijuana user, was (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

S.S.F. Man Climbs Slide, Is Ticketed

A South San Francisco man who climbed forbidden Devil's Slide near Pacifica Saturday ended up with a police citation, a severe bawling out, two sprained ankles, multiple scratches and abrasions, and the makings of a good case of poison oak.

Robert J. Barrie, 44, of 115 India Drive, went to the Slide at 9:30 a.m. Saturday with his prospective son-in-law, John Coniffe, 20, of 1089 Sunnyside Drive, South San Francisco. They parked their car at the north end of the slide area and walked along Cabrillo Highway to the highest point above the ocean, some 800 feet up. Then they started down.

ABOUT three-fourths of the way down, Coniffe decided he had gone far enough. He headed back up the sheer cliff, agreeing to meet Barrie at the top.

Coniffe went back to the car and drove into Pacifica where he got cleaned up and had a cup of coffee. Then he returned to the scene and spotted Barrie on a trail near the bottom of the cliff. Coniffe called to him and Barrie waved and started the climb back to the top.

When Barrie hadn't shown up by noon, Coniffe stopped a passing sheriff's car. An hour later the Pacifica Fire Department rescue unit and a Coast Guard helicopter were summoned to the scene when there was still no sign of the missing man.

10 Finalists

The beauties have been narrowed to 10 with just a few days left before the tenth annual Miss Pacifica Beauty Pageant is underway at 8 p.m., May 21, at Terra Nova High School.

Daly City OK Of Peninsula Cross Roads

Two major cross-Peninsula highway links got the green light from Daly City councilmen last night.

Official approval was given to execution of an agreement with the county for construction of a Hickey-Boulevard extension between Junipero Serra Boulevard and the Junipero Serra Freeway.

The total cost, estimated at $973,620, will be shared by Daly City, which will contribute $221,117. Half of Daly City's share, City Engineer Arthur Reschke said, will come from county gas tax monies.

The second roadway is the extension of the Guadalupe Canyon parkway from its present terminus on San Bruno Mountain to Bayshore Boulevard in Brisbane.

Daly City approval was necessary to allow the county to proceed with a portion which will skirt the city limits.

'Forbearance' To Be Needed, Morgan Says

Twice as many portable classrooms as previously envisioned were predicted last night to serve students attending Westmoor High School in the next two years.

The prediction was made by Supt. Edward D. Morgan of the Jefferson Union High School District in the wake of a report that planning for the district's fifth high school—Serramonte—was two and a half months behind schedule.

Serramonte has been planned to both alleviate overcrowding at Westmoor and to serve an expanding population in the district.

Commenting on the delay, Morgan warned:

"This is going to pose some very serious problems for this district. It's going to take the good will and forbearance of all if we're going to give our students the education to which they're entitled."

The district had decided to provide 20 portable classrooms at Westmoor in the next school year to handle an expected enrollment of 2,300 students. The school was designed to accommodate 1,618.

In the aftermath of a wave of protests over a citizens' committee proposal to bus students to Oceanina to alleviate the crowding, the board of trustees had voted to rent the portable classrooms.

Trustees were informed last night that an agreement had been reached with Suburban Realty Company, developers of Daly City's new Serramonte subdivision, for purchase of a site for Serramonte High School.

The district previously had instituted condemnation proceedings when an agreement on price could not be reached.

Deputy District Attorney Lois Scampini, the board's attorney, told trustees that Suburban officials had agreed upon a $2,747,000 price. (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Teacher Salaries Continue Question For Trustees of District at S.S.F.

Still involved in the question of salaries, the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees last night has determined to set its 1966-67 schedules Monday night at 8 o'clock in the board's chambers.

The trustees last night heard a recommendation from Roy Leighton, chairman of the salary committee of the American Federation of Teachers, to raise the salary schedules of district teachers from a maximum scale of $11,700 to $14,900. Maximum scale is attained by 12 years with the district, a master's degree plus 75 units.

The AFT's proposed increase would raise the district's tax rate by 83 cents according to a spokesman for the district.

At the Monday night meeting proposals from the negotiating council of the trustees will be tendered along with the AFT's recommendation.

In other action, the board:

Accepted a gift of $400 from the Hillside School P-TA for the purpose of installing new drapes at Hillside School.

Determined to add one class for educationally handicapped students; the addition would give the district three classes for such pupils.

Heard a progress report on the district's PACE Program which is entirely sponsored by the federal government.

Awarded a $9,400 contract to the Haleja Construction Company for the building of a room addition at El Rancho School.

Approved the addition of a fourth school psychologist for the district.

Mailman Has Welcome Envelopes—Checks, Sure

The mailman brought several welcome envelopes to the Daly City Hall this week.

In one were two checks from Pacific Gas and Electric Company, for a total of $31,035.01, the firm's payment to the city for its franchise to operate during 1965.

The amount is based on a percentage of the company's gross income in Daly City, and was up over 1964 by 1.9 per cent for gas and 5.2 per cent for electricity.

A second envelope, postmarked Madero, Mexico, required a translator to discover that it was from Jose Zarate Torres, whose official title is El Presidente Municipal.

Torres thanked the council for an old city fire pump which was donated to the Mexican town this spring.

Other thanks came from the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce, which expressed its appreciation of the council's efforts in the construction of Mary's Help Hospital, the Junipero Serra Freeway, and the civic center complex.

D.C. Patrolman's Condition Better

He had first been arrested about 8:30 Thursday night in the 100 block of Werner Street in Daly City on a charge of indecent exposure.

Capt. David Hansen described this sequence of events leading up to the shooting:

After Sedeno's arrest Thursday night, which was made by Patrolman Dalles Webber, the suspect was brought to headquarters and booked on the indecent exposure charge.

Because police personnel were busy on a number of cases at the time, the suspect was not fingerprinted or photographed immediately—the usual procedure. Instead, this process had been scheduled for Friday morning.

Shortly before 6:30 a.m. Friday, Patrolman James Van Pelt went to the suspect's cell to bring him to a nearby squad room for fingerprinting and a photograph.

Both the cell and the squad room are in the basement of the Daly City City Hall at 75 Wellington Street, a block east of Mission Street.

When Van Pelt opened the cell door, the suspect bent over to put his shoes on.

Van Pelt told him he wouldn't need the shoes and the suspect, as he rose, punched the officer in the stomach and bolted out of the cell, around two hallway corners and out a side door, 35 feet from the cell.

At the time, five policemen and a civilian dispatcher were on duty in police headquarters. Van Pelt caught the suspect in an alley outside headquarters but the suspect wriggled free.

Van Pelt, joined by Sgt. Thomas Culley, gave chase. Patrolman Craig Martini, who was in the squad room, notified Sgt. John Kolbmann in the headquarters office upstairs and an alert was broadcast both to Daly City and San Francisco patrol cars.

The chase led from headquarters west to Mission and north along Mission.

Patrolman Klass, cruising in his patrol car in the area, heard the radio alarm and sped along Mission.

He spotted Van Pelt and Culley running along Mission and picked up the two officers.

North of Acton Street, Klass brought his patrol car to a grinding halt, the three officers jumped out and Klass tackled the suspect in front of 5863 Mission Street, a point more than a half mile from Daly City headquarters.

The chase had taken just 10 minutes.

It was during the struggle that followed that Klass was shot.

Hansen said the suspect had somehow wrestled Klass' revolver free from the officer's holster.

None of the policemen had drawn their guns during the chase, Hansen said, because the suspect had been arrested only on a misdemeanor charge.

Sedeno was finally subdued by Van Pelt, Culley and a posse of Daly City and San Francisco officers.

Van Pelt said later that when the revolver discharged the first time, he found himself looking right down the barrel, pointed at him.

"I was dead so I might as well have grabbed the gun," he recalled.

It discharged as he did so. Fellow officers said Van Pelt probably saved his life by his action.

San Francisco police records show that Sedeno was arrested in 1961 on a charge of possession of marijuana and sentenced to a two-year county jail term, which was suspended, and a $100 fine.

In addition, the records indicate, he was arrested in 1963 for being drunk and resisting arrest. He received another suspended sentence.

In 1964, San Francisco police said, the state's criminal information and identification bureau requested that Sedeno be listed as a narcotics user.

Patrolman Klass joined the Daly City police force in August of 1963. He had graduated from Napa Junior College. He lives at 70 Oaklawn Drive, Daly City.

A bachelor, he had planned to be married in July. His fiancée, Norma Bruchi of San Francisco, an East Bay teacher, rushed to the hospital after being informed of the shooting.

She was joined there by Klass' father, John Klass of Santa Elena Avenue, Daly City.

Capt. Hansen described Klass as a quiet, conscientious officer.

Bruno Hopes To Discuss Bus Problem

The San Bruno Park School District hopes to confer with Greyhound Bus Lines and the bus drivers' union on possible ways to eliminate the numerous changes of bus operators.

The district contracts with Greyhound for transportation of its pupils, because it is cheaper than using district buses, District Superintendent George J. Lawry explained.

A complaint from a district parent, Raymond Shephard, of 1051 Montgomery, who has a child attending the Northbrae area's Bell Air School, led to the discussion.

Shephard presented a written report to trustees on asserted inadequacies of the busing system, including such things as use of unmarked buses, failure to meet schedules on time, and use of "rude and offensive" language by drivers.

Lawry told The Times the buses once were signed, but they are used also for adult commute runs and the signs have since turned up missing.

The company has been advised, Lawry said, to replace the signs, although it is not required to do so.

Lawry also did not think the buses had been as late as the 30 minutes Shephard charged more than once or twice.

The superintendent said the district contracts with Greyhound for $21.75 a bus daily, while it would cost the district between $50 and $55 daily for the same service using its own vehicles.

Lawry pointed out that bus drivers, who receive bonus pay for operating the commute vehicles, frequently are unable to cope with the youngsters.

Lawry said that any meeting with Greyhound and the union that represents the drivers would be an attempt by the district to retain the several "real good outstanding" men who handle the children well.

New Policy For Elected Aides Set

A member of the San Bruno Park School District administrative or instructional staff who takes an elected political responsibility in addition to his educational functions now has a clearcut policy to follow.

The district's trustees Monday night adopted a new formula to be applied to such cases. It grants a staff member ten days' leave during the school year in the event his involvement is in local politics. Half of those would be without loss of pay.

However, if the teacher or administrator, or other staff member, found himself in higher political reaches requiring extended off-campus commitments, he must request for leave of absence without pay.

council, were unwilling to say what their next step would be, or whether they would press the threatened suit.

Rev. Howard Bryant, a leader of the group, said he thought it was "time to take a second look at our official family" in view of the council's refusal to so much as acknowledge the committee's complaints.

But the only plans Bryant or his fellow members would talk about are for continued week-end picketing at the huge subdivision in southern Daly City.

Those demonstrations, he said, will continue until they get results.

P.O. Is Thrashed At Bruno Meeting

partment is expected to save "over $125 million" on the implementation of curb-side service.

The council determined to send a letter to all state candidates on the matter.

Further, Rizzo, who will attend a conference of postmasters in the near future, said he would take up the matter with the Postmaster General.

Earlier in the evening the Post Office was the brunt of another vocal attack.

Mrs. George Fontinos of Millbrae protested the mailing of so-called "dangerous free sample material" into homes where young children might find them.

She cited a letter sent to the council from Lawrence Hoffman of 2831 Crestmoor Drive in San Bruno, which stated that the writer had sent a letter to the United States Food and Drug Administration about the matter.

Mrs. Fontinos reiterated the concern expressed by Mrs. Hoffman and said that, as a mother of three children, she felt that "something ought to be done."

In reply, Rizzo made it clear that the council had no control over the mails: "Advertising is the lifeblood of the country," he stated. "They don't send dangerous drugs through the mail. Mrs. Hoffman made the correct move when she wrote to the FDA."

Again, Rizzo promised to speak with the Postmaster General about the problem.

Councilman George Ingham summed up his feelings on the pair of Post-Office matters when he said: "Does all this mean that the children will now have to go out with the rain to get their dangerous free samples?"

Build Rate Construction Slows Down

the policies "back door rate regulations" and he added: "They have virtually put savings and loan associations out of the lending picture entirely. They have created havoc in the last 30 days."

First Quarter

Wuerthner said that at the end of the first quarter of this year, California associations had a total of only $450-million in "lendable" funds, compared to $1,850-billion a year ago.

"Why, two of the largest associations in Los Angeles alone could lend $450-million in a quarter," he noted.

The executives said that since January 1, Systematic has been forced to cut three persons from its staff because of the drop in mortgage business.

A similar lament was voiced by Stanley Vander Hule, manager of the Pacific branch of Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Association.

"I've seen hard money times before," he remarked, "but this is the worst. Something is going to have to break."

Fellow banker Roland Bianchi, manager of the Bank of America branch in the Linda Mar area of Pacific, called the real estate lending market "the tightest it's been."

The consensus of banking and savings officials is that the tight money situation has hit the marginal home buyer the hardest.

This is the person who has been buying a $20,000 home for $500 down and a second and sometimes a third mortgage.

"The tight market has completely stopped the marginal buyer," said Evert Terminello, president of the First National Bank of Daly City.

D.C. Volunteers Get Raise For Fire Calls, Drills

Daly City's volunteer firemen got a raise Monday night, and the City Council simplified the pay structure at the same time.

A resolution adopted by the council gives volunteer firemen

$3 an hour, lieutenants $3.50, and captains $3.75, for each call, whether it is a fire, emergency or false alarm.

The pay for attendance at drills and similar sessions is a dollar less than for actual calls.

Anti-Smut Petitions Are Filed

Petitions bearing the names of 15,000 San Mateo County residents and calling for stronger state laws against pornography and obscenity were filed last week in the office of County Clerk John A. Bruning.

Similar petitions were filed throughout the state by members of the California League Enlisting Action Now (CLEAN), which needs some 475,000 signatures state-wide to qualify the initiative measure for the November general election ballot.

Filing the petitions here were Alfred R. Lynch, former Pacifica school teacher and long-time anti-smut crusader, and attorney Louis Francis, who fought for stronger legislation when a member of the California State Assembly and who has remained active in the field since that time.

Lynch is the paid area coordinator for CLEAN and Francis is honorary chairman for San Mateo County.

Lynch said the petitions were circulated in San Mateo County entirely by volunteers. The state-wide campaign, he said, will cost a minimum of $100,000, which is to be raised through voluntary contributions.

This declaration of intent is stated in the initiative: "During the past several years, the spread of obscene matter has become of increasingly grave concern to the people of this state."

"The indiscriminate dissemination of material, the essential character of which is to degrade sex, will over a long period of time have an eroding effect on moral standards. For this reason, the elimination of this evil is in the best interests of the moral and general welfare of the people."

The initiative declares state policy is to prohibit obscene matter and conduct; redefines key words in the law that have made prosecution more difficult; provides rules and procedures for prosecuting violations; provides that a jury, unless waived, will determine the amount of fine; makes conspiracy to violate obscenity laws a felony; authorizes seizure of obscene matter and sets up a summary procedure for determination by the courts of what is obscene, and requires "vigorous" enforcement and authorizes civil action to compel a prosecutor to perform his duties.

VANDALISM REPORTED

Marlene Ebejer of 335 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City, reported to police last week that vandals had tampered with the ignition of her auto.

Registration Planned For Kindergarten

Parents in the Jefferson Elementary School District may register children for kindergarten classes today at any of the district's 19 schools.

To be eligible for kindergarten in September, a child must be five years old on or before December 2. This means, a district spokesman said, that he must have been born on or before December 2, 1961.

Parents should bring a birth certificate, a baptismal certificate, a passport or an affidavit of nationality for registration. In addition, accordance with state law, parents are required to show evidence of polio immunization for their children.

The school each child will attend will be determined when the board of trustees establishes attendance areas next month.

Daly City Personnel Board Meets Minus a Member

The Daly City Personnel Board—or part of it—looked just seven minutes to dispatch the brief items on the agenda for its special meeting last Thursday night.

The board voted to promulgate a list of eight applicants who had passed an examination for Typist Clerk II, and decided to set the next oral examination for police officer applicants June 2.

The board was incomplete due to the absence of members Joseph Schultz, who had sent word that he could not attend, and Jay J. Flynn, who has been on a four-month leave of absence which expired last month.

Flynn, recently promoted to sergeant by the California Highway Patrol, had been transferred to El Centro in December with the expectation that he would return to the Bay Area by last month.

As his leave of absence expired, he wrote to the city council, explaining that he is unable to determine when he may return.

The council is thus faced with the decision of whether to extend his leave or replace him on the personnel board.

His fellow members, who said they are not happy at the prospect of losing Flynn's services, agreed at their meeting to ask

Arson Cause Of D.C. Blaze

Daly City firemen said flames partially destroyed a vacant home at 269 Hillcrest Drive Friday afternoon.

Because the house was empty and the utilities disconnected, a spokesman said, the cause "has to be arson."

The building was one of about 175 in the neighborhood marked for removal for construction of the Daly City terminal of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Firemen found the attic of the structure fully ablaze when they arrived on the scene. The roof collapsed a short time later.

Fire crews spent two hours extinguishing and mopping up the blaze.

STANFORD LOSES OUT

Warriors' Greg Jones Picks UCLA's Bruins

By RON REID.

GREG JONES, who is rated as the finest football player ever produced in San Mateo County, will enroll at UCLA next year it was learned last week.

Jones, a South San Francisco High School running back, rushed for more than 2,800 yards and 50 touchdowns during his three-year prep career, highlighting it this past season when he led South San Francisco to a perfect 9-0 record and the championship of the North Peninsula League.

A 6-1, 190-pounder with both speed and power, Jones reportedly was headed for Stanford before he decided on UCLA, the team which already has one of this county's finest players in quarterback Gary Beban.

JONES' DECISION came as a severe blow to Stanford Coach John Ralston, who had hoped to recruit the north county athlete more than any other player in the state.

Ralston said that he considered Jones the outstanding high school back in the country and that he would have fit into Stanford's football plans "readily and early."

GREG JONES To Attend UCLA

him," Ralston said. "The loss of him will really create a personnel problem for us." Jones' decision to attend

UCLA and to play for Tommy Prothro ended speculation as to the lad's college choice that started almost when he was a sophomore, and included every school on the West Coast this year. Notre Dame and the service academies, among others, were also highly interested in the talented youngster.

An all-around athlete, Jones earned all-league and all-county honors this season and was also named as Northern California Back of the Year.

IN ADDITION, he was named to the high school All-American team by two publications and was picked to the North High School Shrine team that will meet the South squad in the Coliseum this summer.

Jones also earned all-league honors in basketball and probably would have been named to the All-NPL basketball team had he not discontinued the sport upon the advice of his doctor.

Jones' academic achievement was also highly responsible for the zeal with which college recruiters pursued him. He held an "A" average in his studies.

TITLE UP FOR GRABS

North Peninsula League Horsehide Race Still Knotted

Tension continues to mount in the North Peninsula League baseball race as top-heavy first place comes up for decision this week.

In last Friday's action, nothing was cleared up as both first place Jefferson and Westmoor High Schools advanced their NPL marks to 7-2, with El Camino, 6-2, drawing a bye.

Jefferson, striking for three runs in the first inning and two more in the third, rolled to an easy 5-0 triumph over Half Moon Bay while Westmoor was outscoring Oceana, 9-4. Final NPL action saw South San Francisco blank Terra Nova, 6-0.

In Jeff's victory, pitcher Ron Mini went the distance for the Indians, setting Half Moon Bay down on three hits while striking out 11 batters.

In Westmoor's victory, Corky Phelps won his seventh straight MPL contest, allowing only one earned run.

Home runs by Greg Agar and Alex Mattson plus a triple by Rex Arnott and a single by Bob Gibbons.

Westmoor exploded for five runs in the bottom of the first inning on home runs by Greg Agar and Alex Mattson, plus a triple by Rex Arnott and a single by Bob Gibbons.

South San Francisco ran its NPL record to 4-5 with the shut-out victory over visiting Terra Nova. Luther Gregory, who struck out the first six batters to face him, and Bob Aurigemma teamed up to limit the coasters to just two hits while striking out nine.

Last Tuesday all three squads again turned in victories, with Jeff and Westmoor taking tight ones, and El Camino winning in a cake-walk. All are 6-2.

The Indians came from a two-run deficit, with two out in the last inning, to beat South San Francisco, 6-5, on a bags-loaded triple by Namanny. The Warriors had an early 5-0 advantage, on a three-hit, three-walk, two-error third inning, but could not contain the title-hopeful Indians.

Jeff gradually whittled away at the lead until, with one down in the seventh frame, George Egan singled, and swiped second and third. Dan Cafferata fanned, making it two outs. Bob Bias then drew a walk, as did Pete Berry, setting the stage for Namanny's wind-aided belt that barely eluded the grasp of the right fielder. Namanny was four for four on the day.

Meanwhile, pistol-hot Westmoor racked up its sixth straight win by downing a tough

Cap Still 2 Games Out

Capuchino High School stayed two games off the Mid-Peninsula League baseball pace last Friday with an easy 6-1 victory over arch-rival Crestmoor.

Cap trails Mills by two full games with five games left to play. Roger Carmine twirled a neat four-hitter on Friday to keep the Cappers in contention.

Joe Graben banged out three hits in four times to the plate to spark the Cap offense.

Terra Nova nine, 2-0, behind the hurling of Phelps.

Phelps, running his win skein to six in a row, struck out three and gave up five well-scattered hits.

El Camino, recently having to battle to remain in the top spot, had a breather in trouncing Half Moon Bay, 13-3, erupting for seven tallies in the fourth and breezing from there.

The Colts struck first in the opening frame when Dan Tyler singled, Mick Ackley doubled and Gary Andreacchi hit a two-bagger to score them both.

Sharks Nip Colt Spikers, Finish Third

The Oceana High School track team jumped ahead of El Camino into third place in the North Peninsula League standings as the Sharks dumped the Colts, 71-51, in a dual track meet last Friday afternoon.

Oceana, finishing 4-2, as compared to El Camino's 3-3, was led by the efforts of Greg Shipman, who has been injured all season, but came back to win the 120 high hurdles and the 180 low hurdles.

Also pacing the winners was a brother act by Tom and Tim Sershen, whose combined efforts netted two wins and five placings.

The Class B competition was also swept by Oceana, 67-55, with Greg Garcia doubling in the 100-yard dash and the low hurdles, along with Randy Duckett, who won the mile and the 440.

SSF's Henry Will Attend U. of Oregon

Jim Henry, South San Francisco High School's all-county and all-North Coast basketball star, has indicated that he will attend the University of Oregon this coming fall on a cage scholarship.

Henry, the 6-6 forward-center who led his team to the North Peninsula League title this past year, is regarded as the finest basketball prospect in the North County.

He said he signed his letter of intent last week.

He reportedly tendered a number of attractive offers from interested four-year schools, among them the University of San Francisco, before deciding on the Eugene, Ore., school.

The slim senior was named to The Times all-county five, was Player of the Year in the NPL, was named to the Peninsula Basketball Tournament all-tourney team and was awarded a berth on the all-North Coast units in two Metropolitan daily newspapers.

He broke the existing NPL single-season scoring record by averaging over 22 points per game and led the league in rebounds by a wide margin over his competitors.

Best Ever Finish For CSM Mermen

The powerful Golden Gate Conference proved its supremacy in junior college swimming over the weekend by taking first and third in the California State Junior College Swim Championships at Foothill College.

Host Foothill, the top-ranked swim aggregation in the nation, took top honors as expected, with College of San Mateo finishing a reputable third place. It was CSM's highest finish in the state meet in history.

Foothill tallied 368½ points, followed by Los Angeles Valley College with 266½ points. San Mateo scored 175 points.

In one of the finest JC swimming meets ever held, three national junior college marks were erased and another equalled. Steve Danielson of Los Angeles Valley eclipsed the 1,650-yard freestyle event held by former CSM swimmer Greg Buckingham when he traversed the distance in 16:52.6. Long Beach City College's Dennis Putman also inscribed his name on the record book when he was clocked in 47.3 in the 100-yard free trials. The L.A. Valley 800 free relay team also equalled the pending national standard. John Leasure of Foothill won the 200 back in record time of 2:00.9.

Locally, Dave Gray placed seventh in the 1,650 free, while brother Don Gray was fourth in the 100 free with a best of 48.2 seconds. Wayne Lear of CSM won the 200-yard consolation back event with a 2:08.9 time and Steve Johnson annexed 200 breast consolation with a 2:21.4 effort.

Cap Cinders Use Depth To Edge Vikings

Depth is an awesome virtue to possess when you are competing in track and field.

Capuchino High School utilized this factor last Friday in handling Mills High a 69-53 Mid-Peninsula League dual meet track loss. Mills finished its MPL dual meet season with a 4-3 record.

However, Mills' Randy White stole the individual spotlight as he turned in one of the finest 440 times in Northern California this season. The Viking runner annexed the event in a sparkling 49.5 seconds. He also set a new school standard in the 220 with a 22.6 clocking.

By LE PACINI

NOT SINCE the advent of inter-league trading has a player stepped forth to grab the honor of leading a major hitting or pitching department in both leagues.

Hoyt Wilhelm has led both leagues in earned run average (Giants, 2.43, 1952; Orioles, 2.19, '59), and as such, is the only player in the memory of most current baseball fans to have turned a major double feat. Wilhelm, however, didn't gain the honor as a direct result of the inter-league trading agreement. He was sold by the Cardinals to the Cleveland Indians in 1957, two years before inter-league trading went in effect. This means that Wilhelm had to be waived out of the league, which, though it now seems incomprehensible, was at the time apparently sensible in light of an aging Wilhelm's St. Louis log of 1-4, 4.25.

To find another player with Wilhelm's distinction in modern baseball (beginning 1901), you'd have to flip record book pages back to 1904, when the Hall of Famer, Jack Chesbro, posted a league leading 41-12 mark for the Yankees. Coupled with a 28-6 or 27-6 (records show a discrepancy) with Pittsburgh in the Senior Circuit in 1902, this made Chesbro the first player ever to achieve the double championship honor in modern baseball history.

Four players, Ed Delahanty, Buck Freeman, Cy Young and Rube Waddell almost made it, but won their initial championships prior to 1901.

Delahanty, another Hall of Fame member more noted for his early-day home runs, hit .408 with Philadelphia in the National League in 1899, and then, after his great Philadelphia career, at the age of 35, hit .376 for Washington in the Junior Loop in 1902.

BUCK FREEMAN, a left-handed hitting early-day Ruthian pretender who for years was one of only two sluggers to ever hit more than 20 homers in a single season (the other was Ned Williamson) hit 25 for Washington, then in the National League, in 1899. Lake in his career, in 1903, Freeman hit 13 for Boston in the American League.

Cy Young led the National League when Cleveland was a member in 1892 with a 36-10 or 36-11 (another record discrepancy), and then bounced back, in 1901, at the age of 34, to lead the American League for Boston with a 31-10.

Rube Waddell, the Hall of Fame goofball, just missed when he led the National League with Pittsburgh in 1906, whiffing 133. He took the American League "K" record for six straight seasons with the Athletics from 1902 through 1907, recording consecutive records of 210, 301, 349, 286, 203 and 226.

Dan Brouthers, baseball's first really great lefty hitter, went everyone one better, although he did perform his feats before the turn of the century. Brouthers not only led two leagues in hitting (Buffalo, NL, 367, '82, '83; Boston, NL, 373, '89; Boston, American Association, 349, '91), but also hit .349 for Boston in the Players' League in 1890, finishing high in the final batting standings.

AND THAT ISN'T all. Brouthers also is the only player ever to have led two leagues in total hits, having led the National League four times (Buffalo, '82-'83; Detroit, '87; Brooklyn, '82) and the American Association (Boston, '91) once.

Thus, Brouthers is the only man in the history of baseball to have led two major leagues in two different major offensive categories.

Pete Browning hit .367 for Louisville of the American Association in 1885, and .391 for Cleveland of the short-lived Player's League in 1890.

Besides Freeman, there have been three others to have led two leagues in homers.

Harvey Stovey, the first man in the history of recorded baseball to have hit home runs in double figures, hit a league tying 6 for Worcester of the National League in 1880; slammed his historic double-figure 14 for the Athletics of the AA in 1883; tied for the lead again with the same club in 1889, whacking 19; and, back in the National League in the twilight of his career, tied once again for the lead, hitting 16 for Boston.

Hardy Richardson led the National League (11) with Detroit in 1886 and the Player's League (he tied with a total of 14) with Boston in 1890.

JAMES "BUG" HOLLIDAY turned the feat of leading two leagues while staying with the same club, Cincinnati, which switched from the American Association to the National League in 1890. "Bug" tied with Stovey, hitting out 19 in 1889, the year before the move, and then came back for a solo title in 1892, hitting nine home runs.

Only two men have ever led a pair of leagues in stolen bases. "Slidin'" Billy Hamilton (who also had a lifetime BA of .344) led the American Association while with Kansas City in 1899 by copping 117 bases. He then led the National League with Philadelphia in 1890-'91-'95 with 102, 115, 98, and 95 stolen bases, respectively.

Tom Brown, who was born in Liverpool, England, if that holds any significance, was a real swinger who stole 87 for Boston when it was in the Player's League in 1890, and 110 for the same club when it jumped to the American Association in 1891.

Other than Waddell, only two others have led two leagues in strikeouts.

"Smilin'" Tim Keefe led Troy of the NL with 289 in '82, and New York, also of the NL, in '88 with 334, and led the Metropolitans (actually, New York—the leagues in strikeouts).

"Smilin'" Tim Keefe led Troy of the NL with 289 in '82, and New York, also of the NL, in '88 with 334, and led the Metropolitans (actually, New York—the original Mets) of the AA in 1883 with 360.

Marcus "Fido" Baldwin, who was certainly no dog, led the AA while with Columbus in 1889 with 368, and the PL with Chicago in 1890, whiffing 200.

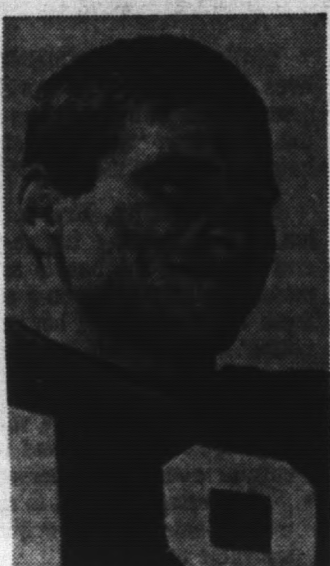

FOR WHAT IT'S worth, following are some remarks from a person whom we consider to be one of the most knowledgeable fight men in the West, but who shall go unnamed for obvious reasons:

"Banning a boy from boxing until he's 18 is one of the most ridiculous rules ever made. I've known many great fighters who started fighting in the amateurs when they were 13-14, and not only were they good, they came out of it with all their marbles. Why? Because they learned good habits young, learned how to protect themselves. By the time they were 18 they were old pros. Those rules are made by ignorant politicians more interested in P-TA votes than the good of boxing. They've done as much to harm the game as racketeers, who are hardly a factor any more, anyway.

"Boxing is one of the safest sports there is, because it's the only sport where boys are pitted against opponents their own size.

TALENT BONANZA EXPECTED

N. County Grads Boost CSM Grid Hopes in '66

JOHN MORO

By JOHN HORGAN

ALTHOUGH THE College of San Mateo's football fortunes were at a low ebb last season, hopes are high on the College Heights campus for a resounding rebound this year.

One of the major causes for the optimistic outlook is the expected influx of a talented crop of North County freshman athletes.

All seven North Peninsula League schools are being counted on to boost the Bulldogs' chances in 1966.

Off the champion South San Francisco High School unit are figured to come a pair of stalwarts: all-county choices John Moro, a quarterback, and Noel Simmons, a center.

Moro is highly regarded by area coaches and might be the catalyst that Cliff Griffen's club needs to jell into a cohesive eleven.

Simmons, though relatively light at 185 pounds, was thought to be the outstanding center in the county and will fight for a first club berth.

JEFFERSON WILL also send

two outstanding preps to the San Mateo college. Al Namanny and Bob Untalan are both expected to attend CSM this fall.

Namanny, a bruising fullback, was a unanimous pick on the all-NPL team while Untalan is a highly-thought-of selection at end.

From Half Moon Bay, which did not compete in the NPL in football last year but will for the first time this year, will probably contribute both Clarence Sloan and Ray Villa to the CSM cause.

Sloan was an all-county pick at linebacker, but, according to his coaches, will probably wind up playing in the interior line at the college.

Villa, a small but hard-nosed end, might surprise at CSM. He is regarded as one of the toughest competitors in the county for his size.

OCEANA IS sending Floyd MacElroy, a rugged running back, to the school. MacElroy gained over 300 yards in one game last year with Half Moon Bay. He was far and away the Sharks' leading ball carrier.

Ed Green of El Camino, the massive tackle, will also head for CSM and the grid wars. The 6-4 Green, whose weight varies from around 250 to upwards of 280, was all-league in the NPL last year and ought to make his size felt in the middle of the Bulldog defensive line.

Two multi-purpose athletes from Westmoor, John Heick and Corky Phelps will enroll at CSM in the fall.

Heick came in at quarterback late in the campaign and racked up some stout statistics but too late to save Westmoor from a losing season. Phelps was an All-NPL end and plays basketball and baseball as well.

Terra Nova, while predominantly a junior team last year, will send quarterback Gary Maule to CSM.

CAPUCHINO, a member of the Mid-Peninsula League, will graduate a trio of prospects to the CSM campus; guards Gary Marriucci and Bill Frisbie and quarterback Jim Miller.

Miller, whom one NPL coach called the finest pure punner he had ever seen in the prep ranks, will battle Moro and a number of veterans for the number one signal caller chores.

TO ATTEND UP

Mick Ackley of El Camino High School, according to a report from the Cult athletic department, will attend the University of Pacific next semester on a football scholarship.

TWILIGHT ZONE

CSM Wins Zany Baseball Contest

College of San Mateo's yase-ball team met Diablo Valley on the Bulldogs' wind-swept, home diamond last week, but as far as the game was concerned, it was played in The Twilight Zone.

In one of the zaniest contests of the season, CSM kept its Golden Gate Conference title hopes alive with a 4-3 triumph that was also the Bulldogs' 13th victory in a row.

A ninth-inning, CSM "rally," (with all the poetic license due that word), broke a 3-3 tie, and very nearly the skull of T. J. Delbex for SM's 14th conference victory against four losses.

CSM held first place in the league standings and a one-game margin over CSM with an 11-5 win over Chabot.

CSM's winning run was scored by Delbex after the lad had actually struck out.

With the score tied at 3-3, two out, and nobody on, Delbex fanned at a third strike to apparently send the contest into extra innings.

Diablo Valley's catcher, who had been harassed by the wind all afternoon, dropped the ball, however, and Delbex reached first base safely. Andy Baracco, the next CSM batsman, drew a walk, and when Diablo's third baseman walked over to chat with his pitcher, Delbex stole third from second.

John Costa then came up to the plate and hit a little dribbler down the third base line as Delbex streaked for home.

Instead of going for the sure out at first, Diablo Valley's third baseman fired for the plate, hitting CSM's Delbex squarely in the skull. The somewhat woozy Delbex, impeded by a sudden splitting headache, managed to stagger across the plate for the winning run.

The wind helped make the contest a pitcher's duel from start to finish, with CSM's Norm Angelini winning for his 11th triumph without a loss, eight of which have now been chalked up in GGC play.

Frank Lombardo of the visitors posted 15 strikeouts in seven innings while Angelini fanned 16 in nine.

All of CSM's runs were un-

JONES IN GAME

South San Francisco High School's star football player, Greg Jones, will participate in the mid-summer North-South Shrine Game in Los Angeles.

T. J. DELBEX, ex-Westmoor star, got conked on the head with a thrown ball, but scored the winning run in CSM's key 4-3 victory over GGC foe.

Padres Take Western Title

Behind the clutch relief pitching of South San Francisco's Al Paganucci, Serra High School edged Reddick, 5-2, in eight innings last Friday to advance into the Catholic Athletic League's playoffs with St. Elizabeth's this week.

The Padres scored three runs in their half of the eighth to win a one-game playoff for the Western Division championship and the right to meet the Eastern Division winners, St. Elizabeth's.

Paganucci came on for Serra in the third inning with his club leading, 2-1, and kept Serra in tight with the Bells until he was relieved by Steve MacLeod.

Serra and the Oakland-based Mustangs played yesterday and will play again Friday. If necessary, the two teams will tangle again next Tuesday in Oakland in the best-of-three series.

COMMENTPeaceful Uses
Of Explosives

Any way one looks at it, the 1.4-million-pound bombing raid on a mountain pass in North Viet Nam was a whale of an earthmoving job.

The bombs touched off a landslide and "it looked like the whole mountainside slid into the pass," the Air Force reported. The pass in question was Mu Gia, where a Communist supply road winds for 21 miles through the Annam Mountains that separate Viet Nam from Laos.

Impressive though the bombing was—and it was the heaviest bomb load on a single raid since World War II—it was not comparable to the scientific efficiency with which explosives can be used to move mountains under peaceful conditions.

Under the necessity of war, the bombs had to be dropped entirely from above. In peace, smaller charges of explosive can be made to do the same work by boring and tunneling inside the rocks.

What is believed to be the largest man-made non-nuclear explosion was the one that demolished Ripple Rock on April 5, 1958. It used slightly less than twice as much explosive as the Mu Gia raid—2.75 million pounds of Nitramex 2H.

Ripple Rock was a submerged obstacle that had endangered shipping in the inside passage between Vancouver and Alaska. Experts spent five years tunneling inside the rock and placing explosive charges in exactly the right places. When the time came, the channel was cleared for good with one magnificent blast.

Americans can only hope that explosives will soon complete the deadly work of stopping Hanoi's exporting of communism in Viet Nam, so that mankind can get on with more useful projects involving big blasts.

There are canals to be dug, as in Panama and across Florida; there are tunnels to be built, as where interstate highways will cross the Rockies; there are drought-stricken areas waiting to have streams diverted to quench their thirst, as in Australia's massive Snowy Mountains project.

The Marquee

'Cornelius'
—Pet Peeve

Barbara Bladen

"My reason for retiring from the concert stage," explained Cornelia Otis Skinner over a bowl of bouillabaisse on Friday, "is that I'm a victim of a newfound culture called series."

These she described as being 10:30 a.m. affairs, "and although I'm an early riser, I don't feel like being theatrical." They're followed by a compulsory luncheon for 1,000 women, and it's written into the contract, which means looking out over a "sea of very fancy hats, eating fancy food and then expected to stand for an hour answering questions."

She rightly believes her salary should be doubled for such a task.

As champion of all people on the lecture circuit, she claims that "once you've given your all, you should have the right to relax."

The native Midwesterner has been doing one-woman monologue shows for 39 years. She writes all her own material and is frankly getting tired of her characters.

She'll concentrate on reading scripts for a possible Broadway show, reading proofs on her biography of Sara Bernhardt entitled "Madame Sara," and begin an autobiography of her trials and tribulations on the concert stage entitled "Travels With a Trick Bag."

Included in that bag of tricks are the "Wives of Henry the Eighth," "The Loves of Charles Second," "Empress Eugenie," characters from "Mansion on the Hudson," a piece entitled, "Edna, His Wife," another called "Paris 90" and "Character Sketches" which we saw here.

THE GRANDE DAME of the American stage is 64 years old and has no intention of retiring, as was falsely rumored prior to her San Mateo appearance last week. Following the death of her husband, Alden Blodgett, she sold their Long Island home and moved back to the co-operative apartment at Sixty-sixth Street and Lexington in New York where she had been brought up with her parents. Her father, Otis Skinner, and Mother, Maude Durbin, lived there.

"I'm always being asked to write a play which I'm not really capable of doing. I got credit for 'Pleasure of His Company,' with Samuel Taylor, but he did most of the work. I can write dialogue but you have to be an architect to write plot situations."

It was during the writing of her charming book, "Grand Wits and Elegant Horizons," that she uncovered material for Sara Bernhardt. She made three trips to Paris doing research and concluded she could have got the same material through the New York Public Library.

"I've turned down two plays in the last year. I suppose it isn't nice to say but I got a malicious delight in seeing them fold."

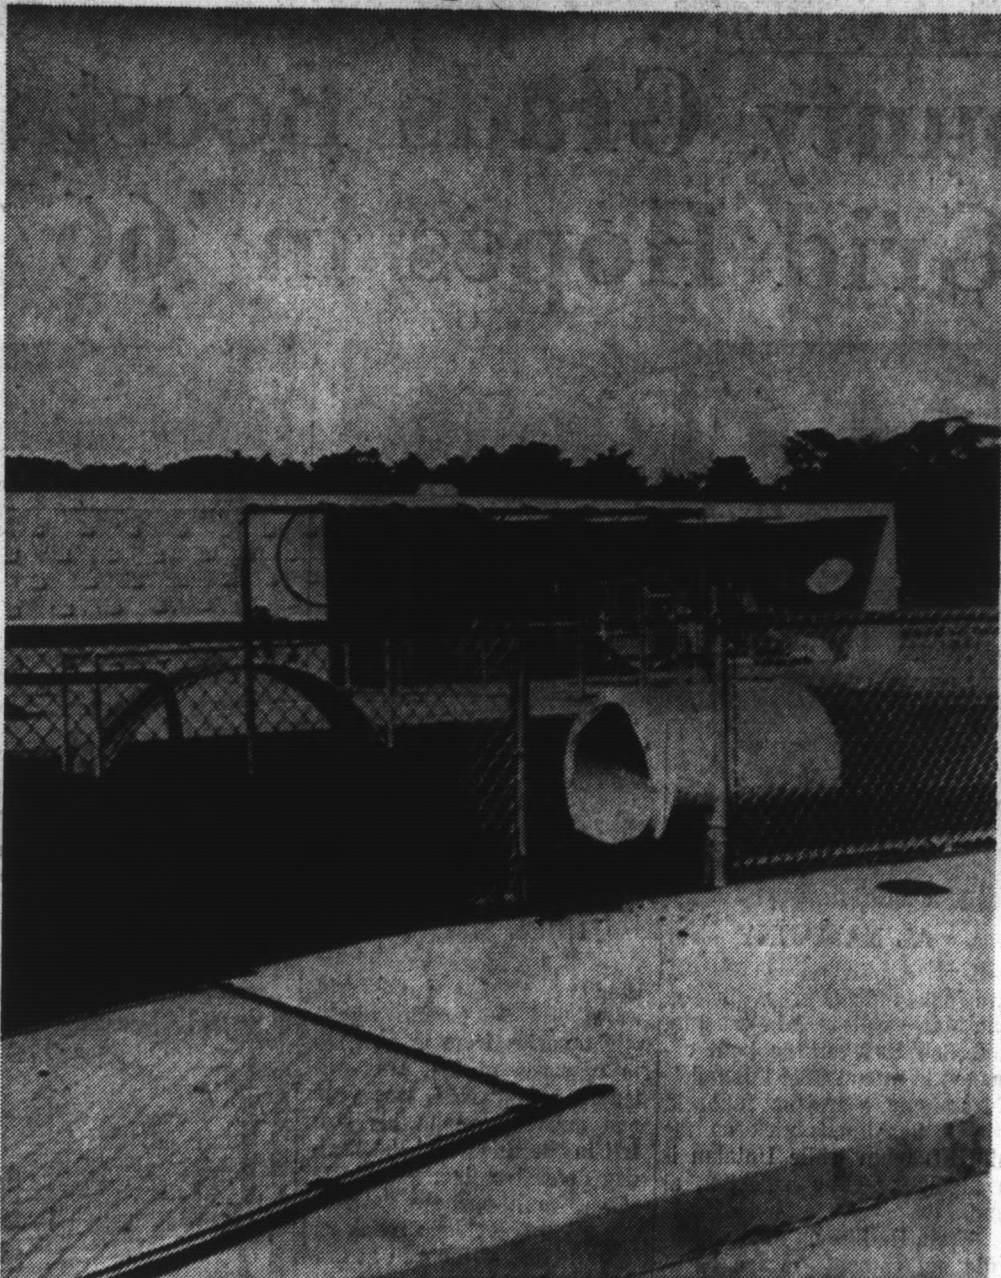

She still suffers from stage fright, as did Sara Bernhardt. "If she did an especially fine performance, she'd say 'the Gods were there.'"

One of her pet peeves is being called Cornelius, a man's name. She's been on the Ed Sullivan show seven times and he still addresses her that way.

Her famous father gave her excellent advice, she claims, when he told her "don't go to an audience, let them come to you." Her theatrical career began inauspiciously with a six-second speaking role in her father's show, "Blood and Sand." She struck out on her own right after that.

"The monologues and sketches began when Charles Taud, an editor of Harper's asked me to a party. Everyone was doing charades so I made up a monologue, shamelessly copying Ruth Draper. After that Mrs. John Jacob Astor called and asked me to entertain at a society party. Not knowing what to charge, I brazenly asked $50. The silence must have meant she had expected me to ask more. After that Barbara Hutton asked for me, and there it was, a concert career that's now rather gratefully coming to a close."

Olympia School

OLYMPIA SCHOOL, one of 19 schools in the Jefferson Elementary School District, opened in 1955 with an enrollment of 308 students. A total of 244 are now enrolled. The school houses grades kindergarten through third grade. A music and multi-use room have been added since the school was built. There are nine classrooms. Classes were on double sessions when the school opened but have been on regular session for several years. Marjorie Tobias served as the first principal. Iola McKeown is now principal.

Time to Consider
Storing Fine Furs

Lorene Beasley

WITH summer approaching, it is time to think about storing those precious furs. The lifetime of a fur garment depends upon the care it is given, and a fine fur, with proper care, will outwear a more durable fur that has been ill-treated.

The storage of furs means more than protection from heat and moths. They are inspected, brushed and cleaned. They are kept in a constant, even temperature with the right degree of humidity.

A fur garment does not have the same resilience as one made from materials. A fur garment is made up of many small pieces of skins and certain parts are subject to greater strain and friction. It is important that minor repairs be made immediately and by a professional. This may save a costly job later.

Charlemagne, the favorite hero of the minstrels of the Middle Ages, followed the example of animals in the care of his fur garments. While on expeditions he saw that his furs were shaken often and vigorously and he never allowed them when wet to be hung by the campfires to dry.

The same rules apply today in the care of furs. A reasonable amount of dampness will not affect a fur if it is allowed to dry naturally and then well shaken. However, over-dampness will injure the cured skin and any fur that has been water-drenched should be sent immediately to a good furrier. A damp fur should never be placed near any type of intense heat. Heat and dryness will cause the skins to become dry and brittle and the hairs to lose their lustre.

A FUR should be shaken in the direction it naturally flows. This helps to keep the fur fluffy and clean as well as helping to prevent moths. Furs need fresh air and never should be crowded into a closet that does not have a good circulation of air.

Fur-bearing animals very seldom venture out into the hot day sun. Bright sunlight will often fade or streak your furs. White ermine should be kept out of sunlight as much as possible and wrapped in blue paper or a cloth when not being worn.

A THOROUGH cleaning once a year is sufficient, as a rule, to keep your furs in good shape. Never allow an inexperienced person to clean your valuable furs. Some furs will not tolerate the slightest exposure to benzine and other cleaning and moth-proofing preparations that are available to the consumer today.

The Better Business Bureau advises you to go to an experienced furrier who has the knowledge and the proper equipment to correctly clean your furs. He can clean the lining of a fur garment with a special cleansing agent which does not touch the fur.

Furs should be glazed after cleaning. Glazing restores the lustre to a fur. It is preceded by a scientific dampening of the fur and then application of heat, either by sand or iron, to bring out the natural oils of the hair. All of this requires skill and should be done only by a reputable furrier.

A Queen Is Crowned

FRANK GREENWOOD, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District, crowns Penny Montemayor queen of the annual May Day Festival at Colma K-6 School in Daly City. Other girls shown were princesses in the queen's court. The festival was held in the school playground. Each class performed folk dances.

Pacific Parade

Mrs. Brown And
The Out-of-Doors

Don Miller

"GOOD ENVIRONMENT in our private lives and in the public world," the wife of the governor of California was quoted as saying the other day, "are so related that we cannot have one without the other."

Bravo for Mrs. Brown. Even though her husband is running for re-election this year and whatever she has to say these days can understandably be given a campaign label, we think the substance of her remarks bear trumpeting from the top of the Capitol dome in Sacramento.

What the governor's wife was saying is this: Americans, by and large, are pretty careful about their personal appearance, yet too often they fail to take care of their country-side (and their own backyards) in the same manner.

And this is woefully true, as a look at the beer cans and the cigarette wrappers and the general debris along our highways will indicate.

With 42 million sun-seeking souls expected to be living in the Golden State by the turn of the century, the careless, and usually thoughtless, habit of flipping the whole gamut of garbage out a car window or off a boat transom is going to result in one, long refuse dump strewn along the shores of the Pacific.

It's bad enough that the air above is slowly being filled with pollutants (and to think that Los Angeles was once considered a Mediterranean paradise) but to have old terra firma as well head in the same direction would be a horrible fate for California.

You know, when you think about it for a moment, the automobile ash tray is a pretty handy receptacle. So are those simple trash bags you can attach to the underside of a dashboard.

Ditto for the "Keep Your Town Clean" bins on street corners and the big wire trash containers along public beaches.

If everybody thought of a thrown-away candy wrapper or a filter tip butt as something that would be whipped back right into their face on the wings of a good breeze, maybe then the unfortunate double standard about personal appearance and countryside appearance would vanish and Mrs. Brown could happily turn to another to express her public-minded interests.

WHILE WE'RE on the topic of despoiling our heritage, how about that wild and almost unbelievable suggestion the other day to pump the Lake Tahoe Basin's sewage right into Lake Tahoe?

This is the idea of Fred Fletcher, a member of the California-Nevada Interstate Compact Commission. He thinks (without any experimenting to back him up) that if effluent is pumped to the bottom of the lake, it will stay there. Period.

Furthermore, he opines, because of the near-freezing temperature at that depth—1,200 feet—algae won't grow over the effluent and algae is the would-be villain of Lake Tahoe.

It all sounds logical. However, our question for Mr. Fletcher is this: What happens to effluent pumped-out-effluent-pumped-out-effluent, etc. Won't it start building up to the point where the lake isn't 1,200 feet deep any more?

In other words, it might work for a few generations or even a century or so. But what about tomorrow? After all, isn't the whole idea of conservation to preserve our heritage not only for the generations of today but those of tomorrow?

And on this point, we'll get off our soapbox (which will be neatly disposed of, incidentally) and get on to other things.

LIKE, FOR EXAMPLE, school unification. When people like former Mayor Frank Pacelli of Daly City and Jefferson Elementary School Board Chairman Tom Noonan are stumped over some of the financial aspects of the proposed unified district, then maybe unification is in trouble.

The stumping happened the other night at a candidates' meeting and the question was this: Assuming voters approve the new district's taking over the bonded indebtedness of the districts to be unified, what happens to the bonds that have been authorized but haven't been issued?

Answer, according to unification sleuth Dick Coltrill of the Jefferson High School District: The new unified district would also take over the authority to issue the unsold bonds, PROVIDED the proceeds were used for the same purposes that the bonds were first intended.

This, Coltrill says, is based upon a ruling by the county district attorney's office. With school unification and its finances admittedly one of the most complex issues ever to face North County voters, there'll probably be more stumplings. But at least, maybe, we've cleared one of them out of the way.

Maybe, that is.

TRUSTEES of the Jeff High District last week cast what we thought was a well-deserved bouquet in the direction of three industrial arts teachers who had prepared a comprehensive report on a new concept of teaching their subject.

The teachers are Norman Sanden of Terra Nova, Gerald Maxwell of Jefferson, and Leslie Vogt of Westmoor. They proposed that students be taught to solve problems in wood-working, electricity, mechanical drawing, and the like rather than — following tradition — be taught how to make projects to take home.

Trustee Ray Milton led the chorus of accolades when he said he was "impressed" by the teachers' presentation and the amount of time and work that had gone into it.

The concept is so new it hasn't been tried out yet. And so enthusiastic over the plan are a group of Los Angeles area industrial arts teachers who pioneered the idea that they offered to come north and help the three Jeff district gentlemen present their case.

As it was, the presentation took 50 minutes and included a scale model of a proposed industrial arts center. The center had been worked out in consultation with architects.

Our impression as we listened to Messrs. Sanden and Maxwell outline their case for a new look in industrial arts teaching was that we perhaps were getting a preview of tomorrow in one field of education.

These subjects have been taught the same way for decades and in an age of Gemini and laser beams and artificial hearts, maybe—as the three Jeff district gentlemen aver—it IS time for a new look.

'Prestige Goes
With Migraine'

Samuel Chandler

IF YOU have migraine headaches join the crowd, there are about eight million of us in the country. You can stick out your chest and be proud. According to Dr. Louis G. Moench, a noted psychiatrist, some of the best citizens to be found anywhere are victims of these agonizing sieges.

"People who have migraine headaches," he said in an interview with reporter Steve Hale, "are people who accomplish things. They are trustworthy. They are industrious, civil, dedicated and loyal."

"I don't think you'd ever find a bank clerk swiping money from the till if he's a migraine victim," Dr. Moench said. "If a school teacher has migraine headaches, she's not the type who'd send her pupils to the library while she goes off."

The migraine personality has been widely discussed in medical literature. Authorities agree that sufferers are people who seek approval from their associates. "They are not the big mouth kind of people who merely talk about doing things. Many of them become fine executives, engineers, college presidents."

DR. MOENCH identified Thomas A. Edison and George Bernard Shaw as migraine men. Included in the list of aching heads are several men who have reached the presidency of the United States. On the other hand, the loafer or village ne'er-do-well is virtually never a migraine victim.

The typical migraine headache begins with blind spots in front of the victim's eyes. They grow, some even wiggle around, until they finally disappear to the side. Then the pain begins. While some authorities attribute the pain to an abnormally pulsating artery in the brain, others have traced it to taut nerves or to disorders that disturb the normal brain waves. Often vomiting follows the pain.

These attacks can last from a half-hour to weeks. Migraine victims generally don't start having attacks until their teens. But ah! there is hope. Dr. Moench says in many cases migraines disappear in the 50s or before.

Not everyone who has headaches is a migraine victim. Most skulls ache from other causes. Migraine people, it seems, inherit their disorder and perhaps even the tendency to be ambitious, exacting and hard-driving.

AMONG HIS fellow psychiatrists, Dr. Moench is recognized for his books and papers including his "Headaches," a "General Practice Manual" and his manual on office psychiatry which is subtitled "The Management of the Emotionally and Mentally Disturbed Patient."

Reporter Steve Hale entitled the Desert News account of his interview with Dr. Moench "The Image Illness." His first paragraph might help you if you are a migraine victim, but aspirin won't. "A lot of pain goes with migraine headaches," but there's also a lot of prestige.

Westmoore P-TA to Install New Officers, Hold Spring Concert

Climaxing an active Westmoore P-TA will be the annual fashion show next Thursday at 3 p.m., in the Westmoore Little Theatre.

Approximately 50 Westmoore students will model their own and fellow students' creations. Many of the girls will be on stage more than once. Three students will commentate the show, which is incorporating a summer fashion theme. Try-outs for commentator are being held this week.

With the emphasis on summer fashions will come sports clothes. Five girls preparing for a boating picnic will model bermudas, bell bottoms, and capris with madras and plaid shirts or sailing motif tops.

Two girls following the current teen-age craze for surfing will model the latest in surfing fashions — "jams" in, of course, wild Hawaiian prints. Since such activity can be tiring the "sporty" girls will be followed by a model in cotton pajamas, perfect for relaxation.

Shifts, ever popular, for sports and dress will be modeled by the freshman girls, who are taking beginning homemaking, and upperclassmen who are in beginning clothing. A highlight of the shift parade will be three models in similar shifts, but the fabrics will be different colored polka dots—blue, yellow, and orange.

Since not all girls will be spending their summer playing, job-hunting and on-the-job clothes will be modeled. Skirts and blouses will be presented, as well as well-tailored suits.

The suits will be of woolen fabric lined in contrasting silks and featuring such details as bound button holes. One of the hits in this department is an avocado green and pink wool with pink trim and dark avocado green lining.

Displaying the ingenuity of the fashion-conscious girls will be the sheaths, short sleeved, fully lined, and high neck, which can be dressed up for a date following work by changing the accent. Suggestions and demonstrations of various accent pieces will be made.

Edison P-TA Plans Spring Concert, Talk

The Thomas Edison P-TA will hold its annual Spring Concert at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the multi-use room.

The program will begin with a selection of songs by the fifth and sixth grade Glee Club, under direction of Paul Carpenter.

The Thomas Edison orchestra, led by Robert Steele, will present a program of instrumental music.

Mrs. Muriel Vint, musical consultant for the Jefferson Elementary District, will assist.

Special guest will be Peter Gailano, a member of the Jefferson Elementary School Board, in honor of the Centennial celebration of the district.

Two speakers presenting opposite views on "Unification, as it Affects Our District," will be part of the program.

Following a five-minute presentation by each speaker, there will be a question and answer period.

Terra Nova Topics

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Opportunities toward better international understanding knocked on the community-room door of the new Pacifica library last Wednesday night when Pacifica's American Field Service met with interested high school students and their parents to discuss various student exchange programs.

Robert Fizer, an AFS selection committee member, presented the Americans Abroad Program through which students can study abroad for a whole school term or during the summer.

French AFS student Anne-Marie Galopin, attending Oceana this year, also spoke on the program.

Experiment in International Living, a summer program in which students have a choice of countries, was discussed by another committee member, Mrs. Fred Dowsett, aided by Oceana senior Valerie St. Jean, who spent last summer in Germany.

Mrs. Seymour Cain, Americans Abroad co-ordinator, introduced a third program by Nations, Inc., the Summer Workshop of Nations in La Honda, through which American students spend a month learning about various countries under foreign instructors.

According to Mrs. Cain, all interested students who did not attend the meeting can get information from their faculty representatives (Mr. Martin at Terra Nova, Mrs. Carter at Oceana).

Terra Nova and Oceana AFS student members are preparing for a joint car wash on Saturday, May 21, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Gordon's Shell and K & J Texaco.

Visit to Mental Health Center

Forty Westmoore High School psychology students recently visited the North County Mental Health Center in Westlake.

The students, who have been studying about mental health, were greeted by Dr. Roy Korwin, a psychologist at the center.

Doctor Korwin summarized the work done at the center in his talk. He told the students that the center, which is operated by San Mateo County, has a team consisting of a psychiatrist, a psychologist and a social worker.

These three people serve patients in Daly City, South San Francisco, Colma, Brisbane and Pacifica. They work with families and individuals from about the age of three to those over 65.

Not all those who work for the center are doctors or social workers. There is a large volunteer organization. Teen-agers are also invited to do volunteer work.

Vietnam Talk For Students At Westmoor

"Vietnamese in Viet Nam" was the topic of an hour-long speech given by Navy Lt. Cmdr. John Hughes, a recent returnee from Viet Nam, in the Westmoore High School Little Theatre May 4.

Members of history, public speaking, and stagecraft classes listened intently while Lt. Cmdr. Hughes spoke on such topics as culture, government, religion, and people of South Viet Nam.

He steered away from the discussion of U.S. troops, explaining that it is the Vietnamese themselves who are fighting the war.

He also stated that the South Vietnamese are an almost forgotten aspect of the war.

Following the speech was a twenty minute question-and-answer period.

Fashions To Be Featured For Parents

Oceana's High School's Homemaking Department will present its annual fashion show at the regular Oceana P-TA meeting next Thursday, in the cafeteria at 8 p.m.

The fashion setting is The Boardwalk, a dress shoppe window, on Oceana and High. The clothing classes and freshmen homemaking classes, will model outfits which they have made this year and the foods classes will prepare the tasty dishes for the Boardwalk coffee shop.

For weeks the following girls have been busy working on their committees: Rose Matthews, head chairman and Virginia Chester, head co-chairman; backstage, Jennifer Scholtz (chairman) and Vickie Zielen (co-chairman); business secretary, Chris Duffy (chairman) and Debbie Ervin (co-chairman); decorating, Joann Fix (chairman) and Marty Miller (co-chairman); publicity, Joanne McGowan (chairman) and Kathy Burns (co-chairman); program designers, Denise Elliot (chairman) and Karen Murray (co-chairman); script writers, Marty Gotschall (chairman) and Cheryl Heightman (co-chairman); foods, Bev Morago (chairman) and Sharon Mahnken (co-chairman); hostesses, Bea Cardinal (chairman) and Mickey Vandola (co-chairman).

Jeff P-TA Council To Hold Special Meeting on Unity

The Jefferson Council of P-TAs will hold a special meeting tonight at 8 in the Westmoore High School Little Theatre to discuss the pros and cons of the coming unification of the elementary school districts with the Jefferson Union High School District.

Speakers include: Dr. Dwight Newell of San Francisco State College; Allen Beaumont of the San Mateo County on School District Organization; Jack Townsley of the California Teachers' Association, and Tom Fletcher of the San Mateo County School Department.

The program is open to the community.

P-TA at Portola School Readies Dime-Dip Dinner

The Portola P-TA will sponsor a Dime-a-Dip dinner at the Portola Elementary School, Lake and Amador, Portola Highlands, San Bruno, on Monday.

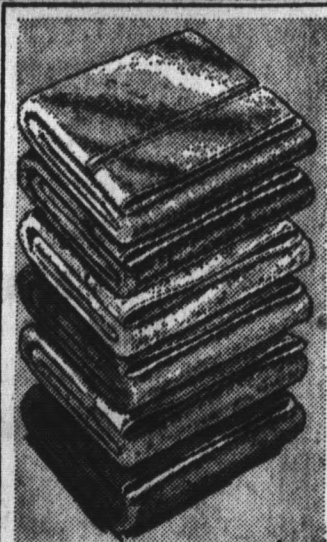

This fund-raising dinner will start at 6 p.m. and food will be served until 8 p.m. Since it will be family night at Portola School, families of the students are invited. A large variety of home-cooked foods will be offered. Coffee and dessert will be free, and cakes and pies will be available to take home for a donation.

More information may be obtained from Mrs. Jack Putoran or Mrs. John Dracopoulos.

SUNNY WEATHER has a way of making the outdoors terribly inviting and so it comes as no surprise that the Pacifica Fifty Plus Club is busily preparing for the Senior Forum Picnic, entitled the Western Pioneers Picnic, to be held on June 1 in Flood Park.

According to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the club and editor of the monthly Life Line, the members are considering dressing up for the occasion in something appropriate to the pioneer theme, currently being considered are granny dresses, cowboy clothes or Spanish dress.

To fill in the days between now and the picnic Fifty Plus members are anticipating a huge spaghetti feed at their Rockaway Beach meeting hall on May 24.

Members and their friends can partake of spaghetti, green salad and hot French bread and dessert beginning at 6:30 p.m. and the ladies of the group plan to keep refilling plates as long as the food lasts, Mrs. Calhan informs us. A card party will follow.

THE FRIENDS OF THE DALY CITY Library will select officers for the coming year at the annual meeting on May 19 at 8 p.m. in the Westlake branch.

According to Mrs. Hal Fox the meeting will also include a very special program on television vs. creativity as interpreted by Terrance Kilpatrick, author of the new book "The Shouting Dies."

Kilpatrick, currently a professor at City College, has had a long association with the theater and has done work on numerous scripts for television. He was a recent winner of the Pasadena Playhouse Award and is now involved in the directing and producing of a pilot film for television.

Because this is a very rare opportunity to hear a local writer who seldom accepts invitations for personal appearance, Mrs. Fox indicated that the evening hour had been selected to make it possible for more men to attend and enjoy this unusual program.

The public is always invited to attend meetings of the Friends and partake of the refreshments which are served following.

MRS. SAM BLOOM, Mrs. Harold L. Grant, Mrs. Byron Guey, Mrs. Kenneth Portello and Mrs. Walter Wilcox will be welcomed into membership in the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association Auxiliary at a high tea today in the home of Mrs. Frank Chambers.

Mrs. Richard Spaw, Mrs. John Gansloser, Mrs. William Mackey, Mrs. Donald Tomei and Mrs. George Hill will be the hostesses and assisting them will be Mrs. Owen Kellogg, Mrs. Edmund Lennig and Mrs. Daniel Young.

Later this month the provisionals will take a training course to acquaint them with the history and activities of the kindergarten auxiliary.

MRS. EUGENE CRANDALL was selected as volunteer of the year by the members of the North Peninsula Circle for the Florence Crittenton home at a recent gathering. Plans are afoot to honor her with an award at a luncheon to be given for her by the other members in the St. Francis Hotel.

According to Mrs. Edward Plant, publicity chairman for the unit, Mrs. Crandall was selected on the basis of her hours of work in the Still Stylish Shop, the efforts she put forth as vice chairman of the annual fashion show, and for the work she does at the Crittenton Home.

This Friday, between 10 a.m. and noon, the circle will have a coffee-social in the home of unit chairman Mrs. Jerry Stringer. Mrs. Jean Bolten, the executive director of the Florence Crittenton Home in San Francisco, will be the guest of honor and members and their friends have been invited to drop in and meet and chat with this remarkable woman.

MRS. JUNE ALLEY, Mrs. Joyce Frasu, Mrs. Connie Hegedus, Mrs. Nancy Hoagland, Mrs. Boyd Johnson, Mrs. Louann Kielian, Mrs. Dawne Knapp, Mrs. Lillian Neatherly, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Poehleman and Mrs. Margaret VanVick, all members of the Pacifica Art Guild, are currently contributing the art display in the Westlake Library. The exhibit includes, oils, water colors and mix media and will be held over the entire month of May.

It still isn't too late to enroll your child in the art classes the guild is sponsoring in the Pacifica Library on Saturday mornings.

The lesson series is due to get under way this Saturday at 10 a.m. with Luther Spraker conducting the class. The fee is to be 75 cents per session and anyone wishing more information should call Spraker, 355-6735.

SPEAKING OF lessons, music students of Mrs. James Ledeter, Armin Oliveras and William Tiedeman are spending extra time on their lessons these May days in preparation for a music recital being planned for Sunday, May 22, at 3 p.m. and Monday, May 23, at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend either or both of the programs which will be held in the Calvary Cross Lutheran Church, 205 San Fernando Way in St. Francis Heights.

WHILE ON THE subject of things musical, the Daly City Community chorus is more than elbow deep in preparations for its annual appearance in the Golden Gate Band Shell.

Patti Stolz, director of the chorus, informs us that the group will be appearing with the Golden Gate band, directed by Ralph Murray, in the YWCA songfest in the Golden West program on May 22.

Bill Gordon, the host on KGO-TV's Luau show will be the master of ceremonies for the event scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

When June rolls around the ensemble will present its spring concert in the Little Theater at Westmoor High School. Mrs. Stolz reports that soprano Phyllis Estrom is preparing to sing a scene from La Boheme and Mrs. Jackie Madden is going to sing a Mary Poppins medley. Other soloists for the evening will be Walter Jeter, Baritone, and Richard Neves, tenor.

SAVE MAY 26, 6 p.m. until 8 p.m., for the Westmoor High School Fine Arts Festival!

'Sense, Nonsense Of Sex' Dialogue

"Sense and nonsense about sex" will be the theme of a dialogue on sex education for teen-agers and parents at Terra Nova High School next Tuesday and on May 24, from 7:30-9 p.m., in the school cafeteria.

Speakers will include Dr. Robert Power, M.D., of Pacifica, a specialist in obstetrics, on May 17, and Dr. Arthur Foster, Ph.D., a dean of the ology and personality at Berkeley Divinity School—on May 24.

The meetings, sponsored by the Pacifica Ministerial Association, have received endorsement from Oceana and Terra Nova Parent-Teachers Association. The Family Service Agency of the San Mateo North County Mental Health Center has provided consultation, an association spokesman said.

May Music Festival Is Readied By Coastsiders

Pacifica's largest musical event of the year will occur this weekend, when over 300 youngsters between nine and 14 join together in the Annual Music Festival.

The multi-purpose room of the Linda Mar School will be the scene. The time—2 p.m.

The instrumental music students will represent all 13 schools in the Laguna Salada School District, and will be under the direction of the four district instrumental music teachers—Mrs. Christine Field, Will Heys, Rudy Salvini and Boyd Johnson.

The whole gamut of band and orchestral instruments will be involved in the concert which will feature students in three divisions—intermediate band, string orchestra and advanced band.

Numbers included in the intermediate band portion of the concert include "Hymn for Band," "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and "Skip to My Lou Cha Cha."

Among numbers to be played by the string orchestra will be "March of the Crusaders," "Largo from the New World Symphony," and "Plink, Plank, Plunk," by Leroy Anderson.

Two student musicians will be featured with the advanced band. Tim Christensen is slated to perform a trumpet solo with "Hey, Pedro, Sit Down," and Evelyn MacLean will narrate a story with musical accompaniment titled, "Crime Does Not Pay."

Due to the large number of student performers, parents and friends are urged to arrive at the Linda Mar School early to be assured of a seat.

According to the district instrumental music instructors, "this will be the largest in number concert ever performed by local elementary children."

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

I'll bet my morning is just like many of yours. While I'm trying the washing machine is running the hairdryer is buzzing and I have the last batch of cupcakes baking away in the oven. Sound familiar? And homemakers wonder why they have that tired harassed feeling.

I'm feeling guilty because I'm just sitting here typing, seems I should put some polishing cloths on my shoes and polish the floor while I'm typing. That way no time would be lost.

In case this busy talk depresses you I'll try to raise your spirits with some recipes that will make dinner today a huge success.

Steak is a favorite of everyone, and this recipe for Swiss steak will really be a favorite of yours after you've tried it.

SWISS STEAK DE LUXE

2½ to 3 pounds of round steak or Swiss steak
(1 to 1½-inch thick)

- 1 Tbsp. dry mustard
- 1½ teas. salt
- ¼ teas. pepper
- ¾ cup flour
- 4 Tbsp. shortening or bacon drippings
- 1½ cups sliced onion
- 2 diced carrots
- 2 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 teas. brown sugar
- 3 cups canned tomatoes (No. 2½ can)

Mix mustard, salt and pepper with flour. Pound seasoned flour into meat. (Work in as much flour as possible.) Melt shortening. Brown meat on both sides.

Transfer meat to a casserole with a cover. Sprinkle onions and carrots over meat. Add Worcestershire sauce and brown sugar to tomatoes, mix and pour over meat.

Cover and bake two hours in a 325-degree oven. When meat is tender, lift out to a platter, keep warm while you thicken sauce with flour. Pour sauce over meat. Serves six generously.

With this de luxe steak you could serve mashed potatoes, buttered noodles or rice. The sauce is so delicious it makes a wonderful topping for any of these starches.

An interesting vegetable to serve with this meal would be carrots, not just carrots, mint-glazed carrots.

MINT GLAZED CARROTS

- 2 cups cooked carrots, cut in strips
- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 Tbsp. mint jelly

Combine butter, sugar and mint jelly in saucepan. Add to the cooked carrots and simmer until carrots are glazed. This serves four.

And how do you finish off a meal like this? Well, since we started off the column talking about what busy gals we homemakers are, we'll choose a dessert that fits into a busy day. And what is easier to make than gingerbread?

The directions for making gingerbread are simple: Rush to the store buy a box of gingerbread and follow the directions on the box.

However, to give it a nice finishing touch you might use whipped cream or this delicious vanilla sauce.

VANILLA SAUCE

- 1 cup sugar
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 cups boiling water
- 4 Tbsp. butter
- Few grains of salt
- 2 teas. vanilla

Mix sugar and cornstarch; add water gradually, stirring constantly. Boil five minutes, remove from heat and add butter, salt and vanilla. Serve hot. Makes two cups.

D.C. Cubs Man Palace Booth

An "East Meets West" booth was manned by Cubs of Daly City: Pack 724 at the recent Scout-a-rama at Cow Palace.

OLPH Mothers Set Nominations For Unit Officers

The recommendations of the nominating committee will be heard by the members of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mother's Club at the regular monthly meeting to be held tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The committee, headed by Father James Bergin, pastor and moderator included Mrs. Joseph Daniele, president of the club, Mrs. William Gonzales, Mrs. Joseph Drew, Mrs. Walter Phemister, Mrs. Richard Phillips, Mrs. Edward Denning and Mrs. Carl Rolandi.

A report on the club's recent fashion show will also be of interest to the members and is on the agenda for the evening.

Hostesses for the evening will be the sixth grade mothers headed by Mrs. Leland Evans and Mrs. Thomas Winter, room mothers.

Jeff Classes Plan Reunion in June

Four Jefferson High School classes will hold a joint reunion on June 18 in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Thunderbolt Hotel, 101 Bayshore Boulevard, Millbrae.

A spokesman for the reunion committee said reservations for the event should be made with Donna Reid Morris, Jack Lewkowitz or Gerry Bertetta McDonald next week.

St. Francis Troubadors Will Fete, Viet Soldiers

Wounded and sick GIs—veterans of Viet Nam jungle fighting—will be entertained tomorrow—by the "Troubadors of St. Francis Heights" when the song and dance group appears at four separate wards of Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco Presidio.

Directed by Mrs. Gertrude Scanlon, instructor, St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Guild of Daly City, the "Troubadors" are scheduled to visit four convalescent wards of the big Army hospital under the auspices of Golden Gate Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The song-and-dance troupe will bring their show directly to the bedsides of the stricken soldiers since most are still too disabled to gather in the hospital's auditorium, Mrs. Vera Hollerman, chairman, Entertainment Services, Red Cross, said.

Said Mrs. Hollerman, "the entertainers will be working under somewhat awkward circumstances doing a sort of 'strolling musician' routine down the center of each ward they visit.

"But" she added, "the disabled men will welcome entertainment since many have been confined to hospital beds for very long periods with no opportunity for recreation other than pocket transistor radio or TV fare.

"Visits from wives, sweethearts, family, and friends, are of course, the most desirable, but too many sick and wounded jungle fighters are too far from home for frequent family visitations."

Hence, she said, entertainment such as that provided by the St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Guild, is warmly appreciated.

Mrs. Scanlon said shows put on at Letterman or at other institutions are helpful for the "Troubadors" and the studio. On Saturday, June 11, the guild will perform a 90-minute stage show at the "Little Theatre" of Westmoor High School, with a cast of 120 on stage.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Small cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones.

If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.

A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.

Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech and the ability to chew food and to help prevent other dental diseases.

Regular dental treatment will help you to have teeth that are both healthy and attractive.

Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help protect the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Transit Plan Preparation May Exceed Estimated Cost

Preparation of a master transit plan for San Mateo County may cost the West Bay Rapid Transit District a lot more than was anticipated, directors were told last week.

General Manager John C. Lilly recommended that, because of scheduling difficulties, the district's consultants be authorized to do a phase of the work that is supposed to be done by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

It was estimated last year that making use of the BATS information and services would save the transit district between $150,000 and $215,000.

Lilly told WBRTA directors last week, however, that it now appears that it will not be possible to dovetail the BATS work schedule with the local jurisdiction's.

The manager said the Authority has about a month to decide on a course of action. In the meantime, he will prepare cost figures and analyze the possibility of asking the legislature to extend the district's deadline. As it stands now, state law requires that the Authority will cease to exist on January 1, 1969, unless a master transit plan has been approved by the voters by that time.

Supervisor William M. Werder, a WBRTA director, suggested that a one-year extension of the date would permit the local agency to make use of the BATS data and services.

Regional Aid For Airport Is Suggested

The spectre of "regional financing" for San Francisco's International Airport in San Mateo County was raised again last week by San Francisco Mayor John Shelley.

In a surprise statement to his city's Public Utilities Commission, Shelley said a $121-million bond issue is too much to ask of the city's voters for expanding airport facilities.

He said he could not support going beyond the 95-million bond issue requested two weeks ago by Public Utilities Manager James Carr.

P.U.C. Chairman Thomas Stack, who had urged Carr to seek the additional $25.5 million in order to fill 600 acres of land bay tidelands off Millbrae, reluctantly gave in to the mayor.

"If we run out of land, we're in trouble," Stack said. He indicated that the $95.5-million bond issue, if approved by the city's voters in November, would just about fully develop all the airport's present property.

Mayor Shelley contended,

MICHAEL BEAZIAN Wins Award

however, that plans for developing the proposed 600 acres of filled land are not firm enough to convince the voters that the money is needed.

"We should undertake studies to develop a larger financial base for the airport."

Shelley had made much the same comments two weeks ago, when speaking to the P.U.C. on the same subject and has made similar comments on many occasions before.

Insurance Award For D.C. Agent

Michael Beazian of Daly City has earned special recognition from the Prudential Insurance Company for selling and servicing more than one million dollars worth of life insurance protection for the fifth consecutive year.

Beazian, a special agent in the firm's Hammond and Associates agency, will be honored for his achievement at Prudential's national business conference in Minneapolis in June.

Associated with the company since 1960, Beazian is a member of the Million Dollar Round Table for the third consecutive year, and a five-year qualifier as a President's Club Million Dollar producer.

He resides with his wife Sue and their daughter Lee Ann at 274 Verano Drive.

Container Plant Will Be Erected in Cabot Complex

Georgia Pacific Corporation, San Francisco Container Division, will construct a new shipping container facility in the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Industrial Park in South San Francisco on East Grand Avenue, it was announced officially by H. J. Freeman, general manager.

The new plant will be on a 16-acre site and will contain 350,000 square feet under one roof, including office, manufacturing and shipping areas.

Included in the multi-million-dollar expansion, which replaces the present Millbrae facility, will be a new 96-inch Langston corrugator, the largest on the Pacific Coast, and additional corrugated paper box manufacturing equipment.

Construction will start immediately with production scheduled for approximately October. The move of all facilities, including offices, should be completed early next year.

Georgia Pacific Corporation purchased the former Royal Container Company in May, 1961. Georgia Pacific and its predecessor have been manufacturing in the present Millbrae facility since 1940, having commenced operations in 1935 on Stockton and Bay Streets in San Francisco.

Airline Tour For Meeting Of Chamber

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, whose merchant members meet monthly at various restaurants in the city, met last night at the cafeteria of the United Airlines Maintenance Base at San Francisco International Airport.

A guided tour of the United facilities followed the dinner meeting.

On the agenda were reports from chairmen of the chamber's several committees, including the one making final preparations for the chamber-sponsored "Aviation Appreciation Week" May 15-21.

Tentative plans for the week-long salute to the Airport include displays and demonstrations by some 20 airlines in cooperation with San Bruno merchants, as well as tours of airport facilities, participation by stewardesses, military participation on Armed Forces Day May 21.

S.M. Harbor Commission Fights Back

The recent decision of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to dissolve the San Mateo County Harbor District, subject to voter confirmation in June, is meeting determined resistance, according to the president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, Admiral Sigval B. Johnson.

In a statement issued this week, Johnson said that the Harbor Board's office in the Old County Courthouse in Redwood City has been "swamped" with offers of support, and that he had been informed that a Citizens Committee to Save the Harbor District is being formed.

"Apparently there are a large number of county residents who believe that the Harbor District should remain a separate entity—free from the control of the Board of Supervisors and County Manager Stallings," he said.

"Unfortunately," Johnson continued, "the conflict over the future operation of Pillar Point Harbor has been clouded over by personality conflicts between individual commission members of the Board of Supervisors. These conflicts, however, are in no way germane to the central issue of who is to direct the future growth of harbor facilities in the county."

Johnson stated that this conflict, among other reasons, has prevented the future of the Harbor District from receiving an objective hearing.

"The Board of Supervisors based their recent dissolution decision solely on the basis of information contained in a study prepared under the direction of County Manager Stallings, by Max Rolih of his staff, as far as I can see. While the Harbor Board prepared a 34-page detailed counter-argument, refuting Rolih point by point, supported by several documents from interested citizens and expert witnesses, the Board of Supervisors made their decision for dissolution within minutes of receiving this document."

EXTENSION READIED

Pact Reached On Westborough Road

The South San Francisco City Council last week paved the way for the extension of Westborough Boulevard between West Orange Avenue and El Camino Real with authorization of an agreement with the county for acquisition of land.

City Manager Eugene Aiello said right-of-way acquisition will begin immediately. Construction, he added, is approximately one year away under present schedules.

Close at hand is improvement of Airport Boulevard between Colma Creek and the Bayshore Freeway underpass. The two-lane portion, presently a bothersome bottleneck, will be widened to four lanes by Lowrie Paving Company whose low bid of $15,076 was accepted by the Council. The bid was just $26.25 lower than the engineer's estimate of $15,103.

Another bid accepted by the Council was for paving and improvement of the Siebecker parking lot and four "lot lot" children's play areas—as well as work at Buri Buri park.

F. D. Sperry Company of Burlingame was awarded the contract after submitting a low bid of $17,841 for the work.

Bids for a street department water wagon, received too late for compilation, will be placed before the council at its next meeting.

Proposed ordinances governing community antenna television systems and subdivision regulations were on the agenda, but were once again continued for two weeks to allow city attorney John Noonan more time for study.

In new business, the council approved the inclusion of 34.5 acres of land owned by the Rod McClellan Company in an agricultural preserve. Three acres of the land lie within the city limits.

The action had previously won the approval of the county planning commission, on the condition that South San Francisco concur.

Under the 1965 California Land Conservation Act, the orchard-raising firm agrees to limit its

North County Political Notes

North County political news continued to boil last week with a number of developments.

Among them were:

The announcement of Ethel Waters of Daly City as campaign manager for Pat Drain who is running for Republican from the fifth supervisorial district.

And the announcement that ex-State Senator Robert I. McCarthy will address today's noon luncheon of the Daly City Colma Lions' Club at Toto's Restaurant on Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Room Policy Is Revised

The Pacifica Park, Beach, Recreation Commission, meeting with only four of its seven members present, last week sent to the City Council a proposal for a revised policy governing use of the Culture Room in the Sharp Park Library.

A spokesman for the commission said the policy "was not much different" from the old policy. The changes incorporate guidelines for use of the room.

In other action, the Commission recommended that a lease held by the Pacifica Nursery School for use of the city's quarter hut in Pomo Park be extended.

Temple of God Is Dedicated In San Mateo

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken yesterday brought a Pontifical Blessing to St. Matthew's Catholic Church, climaxing colorful dedication ceremonies which were witnessed by an estimated 2,000 members of the parish, city and county officials and dignitaries of the church from throughout the Bay Area. In his eloquent congratulatory message to the "good people of the parish, who have made the new Temple of God a reality," Archbishop McGucken emphasized that their devotion provides living proof that "God is enice, dictating the terms of their own existence and earthly life." This, he noted contrasts with today's tendency to accentuate the secular trend of the nation toward dominance over "What was a Christian Society..." He decried the doomcriers' declarations that "God is dead." Said Archbishop McGucken: "You prove that God is indeed living within your heart by building this beautiful house of God." He warned, too, against today's trend by "many, many men who are becoming fascinated with the product of their own genius, so blinded by the light they have created themselves, that they no longer see the beauty of the sun, moon, and stars, and they forget the beauty of His creation and presence, dictating the terms of their own existence and earthly salvation." Today's dissension, wars, the sight of families torn asunder by selfishness, mark society's struggles and call out for the need of such "acts of faith," as that which has built the new mother church of the parish. Coincidentally yesterday marked its 103rd birthday on Mother's Day. The archbishop congratulated the pastor, Father Bernard Cronin for his devotion, and who, he emphasized, "has given so much thought to every sign and symbol in the building of this church." He also extended congratulations to the Leo A. Daly Company, architects, engineers, planners, Wagner and Martinez Building Construction, their subcontractors, Job Superintendent Clifford Christensen, Artist, Designer Angelo Lanzini, Attorney Thomas F. Casey Jr., and others. Various parishes and orders were represented by some 50 priests and nuns who also attended yesterday's ceremony. The City of San Mateo was represented by Mayor and Mrs. Robert C. Garvey, Vice Mayor and Mrs. John J. Murray Jr., City Clerk-Assessor and Mrs. William J. O'Farrell, Councilman and Mrs. Hugh A. Wayne, Fire Chief and Mrs. Noe Chanteloup, Park and Recreation Commissioner Henry Guldberg, and others. Father John J. Ryan, professor at the faculty of Serra High School, delivered the sermon, hailing the modern edifice as bringing into being the revised liturgy set forth by the Council of Fathers in Rome. Yet, he noted the church retains its tie with tradition, its doctrines and dogmas of Christian heritage.

Man Leaps From Falling Lift Truck

A Sunnyvale man narrowly escaped being crushed by a forklift truck about 1 p.m. Thursday in Daly City when he was able to leap almost clear of the machine when it turned over. George W. Bennett, 41, of 826 Lewis Street, told Patrolman Rich Brewer that the forklift toppled over as he wheeled the machine over a curb at East Molke Street and Hillside Boulevard. He said he jumped as the forklift began to topple and was almost clear of the forklift when he caught his leg and knee.

34 Officers To Graduate At College

Thirty-four members of police agencies were graduated yesterday at College of San Mateo after completing off-duty instruction in law enforcement principles.

Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn was the featured speaker at the program, held in the campus choral room.

The president of the graduation class, Howard D. Bott of the San Mateo County Sheriff's office, also gave an address.

Those from the North County scheduled to receive certificates of completion were, by departments:

DALY CITY — Dennis J. Cosgrove, Donald A. Horsley, Barry B. Langberg, William E. Moeller, Jr.

PACIFICA POLICE — Daniel L. McGee.

SAN BRUNO POLICE — Harold D. Buckholz, Norman E. Cunnham, Paul A. Esposito.

Board Ends Compact With Tourist Unit

The County Board of Supervisors voted last week to let the county's contract with San Mateo Chamber of Commerce lapse rather than renew it on the chamber's terms.

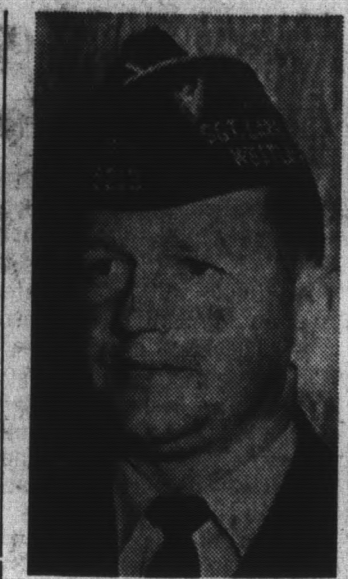

For a number of years, the board has contracted with the chamber to operate a county tourist and convention bureau.

It is now the intention of the county that these duties will be taken over by the man to be named general manager of the County Fair. Recruitment to fill the position is under way. Three top candidates are now being considered by the County Fair Board.

County Manager E. R. Stallings told the board last week that the annual agreement expired May 1.

He suggested that it be renewed for only six months, which would give time for the new man to take over the duties following the county fair.

The chamber, however, Stallings said, insisted on a one-year contract. He recommended against it, and the supervisors agreed.

MAJ. CHARLES GORDON of 83 Ocean Grove in Westlake, new American Legion post commander of the Lary Pierce Post, will be on the mall of the Westlake Shopping Center Saturday with other members of the post to give informational talks on the subject of the war in Viet Nam.

Pvt. Robert T. Doyle, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doyle, 160 Abbott Avenue, Daly City, has been assigned to the Artillery and Missile School at Ft. Sill, Okla., for technical training. A 1965 graduate of Jefferson High School, Doyle recently completed basic training at Ft. Ord.

FUTURE UTAG
John Glebow, 260-pound tackle from Westmor High School, will attend Utah State University next semester on a grid scholarship.

County Tax Rate Rise Is Seen Likely

It appeared likely this week that the county tax rate, which has been reduced every year for the past seven years, will go up this year.

County Manager E. R. Stallings brought up the possibility in a report to the County Board of Supervisors on his recommended budget for 1966-67.

Stallings recommended an expenditure program of $59,964,996, an increase of $7,557,320 over the current budget. The recommended figure represents a decrease of $5,231,324 from the total requested this year by department heads. Stallings having trimmed the figure during budget conferences during the past two months.

The recommended total is a 14 per cent increase over the current operating budget.

"Because revenues apparently will not keep pace with expenditures in all cases, particularly in the medical care programs," the county manager said, "it is possible that a higher tax rate will be required to finance the new budget. Continued investigation of non-property tax revenues holds promise, however, of minimizing any tax rate increase that may prove to be necessary."

Breakdown
Stallings noted major appropriation increases in these areas:

Law enforcement and public protection, including courts, up $1,093,481; employees' retirement, social security and group insurance, up $465,000; health and welfare, up $2,328,977; road department up $1,967,880.

"Especially in health and welfare," the county manager said, "virtually all of the appropriation increases are obligatory under state and federal legislative requirements. New medical care programs which call for considerably higher expenditures also may provide additional offsetting reimbursement sources."

Every year since 1958, when the general tax rate was $1.88 per $100 of assessed value, the rate has been decreased to its present figure of $1.34.

'Till Tap' Operation Nets $220

Two thieves using an old "till tap" routine, stole $220 from the Mayfair Market at 6062 Mission Street in Daly City about 3:30 last Wednesday afternoon.

A clerk in the store's liquor department, Curtis Cadenhead, 51, of San Francisco, told Patrolman Charles Phillips that two men walked up to his cash register counter and one of them ordered a package of cigarettes.

Cadenhead said that as he rang up the sale, the customer said he wanted to buy a bottle of liquor also.

As he stepped back from the counter to see what the customer wanted, Cadenhead reported, the other man suddenly reached into the cash register and scooped out currency.

Both men then fled.

Teen Clubs Set Activities

Three of the Daly City recreation Department's teen clubs meet this weekend in a variety of activities.

The Roof Raisers Junior Teens will meet at Westmor High School Gymnasium Friday for a sports night. Volleyball, basketball and other events will be featured.

The Know Names will have their regular monthly dance Friday evening at the Westlake Clubhouse, from 7-9 p.m.

D.C. Chief Reports On Alarm Meet

Daly City Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander attended an April 18-22 fire alarm operation and maintenance school at Del Webb's Townhouse at Fresno, then reported on the activity to members of the International Signalman's Association at Bakersfield April 28-29.

Chief Alexander, in charge of Daly City's fire alarm system, is chairman of the educational committee of the Signalman's Association, which joined with the State Department of Education's Bureau of Industrial Education Fire Training Program to sponsor the 30-hour program, attended by 125 California and Nevada firemen.

Such topics as industrial safety, fire alarm construction, control circuitry, maintenance, trouble shooting and testing were outlined at the school, as well as D.C. theory, circuit protection and grounding.

Giant Political 'Roundup' At Cow Palace for Reagan

The "Reagan Roundup" a giant political rally for Republican gubernatorial candidate Ronald Reagan, will be staged at the Cow Palace at 7:30 tomorrow.

The program will feature Don DeFore as master of ceremonies, humorist Buddy Ebsen of the Beverly Hillbillies, the Red Garter Band of San Francisco, and the Young Men, a Southern California folk group.

Charles Dirksen, dean of the business college at the University of Santa Clara, will deliver an introductory speech entitled, "The Dynamics of California."

Reagan will deliver a major campaign address. He will be introduced by actor Chuck Connors.

A spokesman for the Californians for Reagan committee said, "This will not be a dull presentation nor the usual rally but rather it is conceived to be more on the order of a highly informative session with entertainment preceding the formal addresses."

Two were hurt in a two-car collision at 1:50 p.m. Sunday on Oak Avenue, south of Jenevein Avenue. They were Donald D. Guabello, 19, of 121 South Magnolia Avenue, San Bruno, driver of one of the cars, and Steven Vella, 1, of 308 Oak, a passenger in the other car, driven by Joseph Vella, 36, also of 308 Oak.

The infant suffered a cut lip and was taken to a private physician.

In another two-car collision at El Camino Real and Santa Dominga Avenue about 5 p.m. Saturday, Felix S. Palmer, 43, of 476 North San Anselmo Avenue, San Bruno, driver of one of the cars, suffered a fractured wrist and was taken to Peninsula Hospital.

The driver of the other car was identified as Herbert C. Gale, 24, of 260 San Marco Avenue, San Bruno.

In the third accident, Gary E. Herzog, 8, of 846 Mills Avenue, San Bruno, suffered a bruised face when he was struck by a car about 4 p.m. Saturday on Huntington Avenue, south of Euclid Avenue. He was treated at Peninsula Hospital and released.

The driver of the car, Karen E. Young, 16, of 615 Burrows Street, San Bruno, reported that the youngster had dashed in front of her car.

Three Hurt In Accident In Daly City

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision at Brunswick and Evergreen Streets in Daly City about 11:30 last Tuesday night.

Admitted to Mary's Help Hospital with a head bruise was Magdalena Hernandez, 67, of San Francisco, a passenger in a car driven by Ralph J. Lytle, 31, also of San Francisco.

Lytle suffered a cut nose and bruises and was treated at Mary's Help.

Another passenger in his car, Pedro Hernandez, 68, of San Francisco, suffered cuts and was treated at Mary's Help.

Daly City police cited the driver of the other car, David G. Brown, a sailor stationed at the Alameda Naval Air Station, for a violation of right-of-way.

Paint Thinner Boils Over But Explosion Is Averted

A potentially disastrous explosion was averted in a South San Francisco paint factory Sunday when firemen were able to shut off an out-of-control paint mixing motor and clean up red-hot paint thinner that had spilled out of a room-size kettle.

Fire Chief John Marchi said "it was an act of God" that the F. P. Fuller Company plant at the east end of East Grand Avenue didn't go up in flames shortly after 1 p.m. When firemen arrived at the plant, they found the boiling thinner seeping over the floor in an area when paints and other thinner, both highly flammable were stored.

Although controls to the motor on the mixer had burned out, firemen were able to stop the machine anyway.

The motor moves a paddle back and forth that, in turn, stirs the paint and thinner.

Chief Marchi said that the motor had been left unattended. Firemen were at the scene 25 minutes.

Night For Candidates

The Pacifica Branch of the American Association of University Women will sponsor a candidates' night at the Oceana High School cafeteria at 8 p.m. Friday.

Candidates for the proposed unified school district, which would include Bayshore, Brisbane, Jefferson and Laguna Salada districts, will be featured.

Moderator will be Mrs. Herbert Humber of the San Mateo League of Women Voters.

A seven-member board of trustees would be established if voters approved unification.

Short Agenda Was Shorter

The Colma Planning Commission, which usually has a short agenda for each of its meetings, had practically no agenda last Wednesday night.

There were no applications to be considered and the commission's only action was to elect Mary eraV Ryan as its chairman and Mervin Notziger as vice chairman. Mrs. Ryan also is Colma's newly elected treasurer. She has been on the commission since 1963.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

SUPERVISOR candidate Wes Pomeroy last week charged his fellow office seekers with failure to take a stand on any issue facing San Mateo County.

At a campaign dinner in the Bunker Room Restaurant at Cypress Hills Golf Course in Colma, Pomeroy said: "I have always been willing to state my position on any matter, properly within any area of my concern, whether it be as undersheriff, school board president or as a member of the many community service groups to which I belong."

He cited air and water pollution, waste disposal, bay filling, conservation, social welfare and taxes as some of the most important issues he said the county faced.

District To Probe Report On Explosion

An investigation into a report that a "disastrous furnace explosion" nearly occurred at Westmoor High School has been ordered by trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District.

The report was contained in a letter to the district from Russell B. Baker, a claims adjuster of the Pacific Indemnity Group, the district's boiler insurers.

Baker had compiled the report after investigating an explosion that occurred in the fire box of a Westmoor boiler at 3 a.m. April 4.

The explosion was blamed on an accumulation of gas left over in the fire box when the boiler was re-fired.

In his letter, Baker wrote: "You are no doubt aware that considerable difficulty has been experienced with the combustion equipment on the boilers at Westmoor High School."

"Previous malfunctioning of a gas valve very nearly resulted in a disastrous explosion but was detected before ignition occurred."

Exclaimed Trustee Lyall Ingersoll to fellow trustees: "What does he mean we're aware of this. I haven't heard anything about this, have you?"

When trustees asked Asst. Supt. Fred O. Goodell, who had been handling the district's boiler investigation, for further details, Goodell replied he knew nothing of Baker's contention that a serious explosion had almost taken place.

Goodell said he would investigate further and report back to trustees.

Earlier, he said that it would cost the district between $5,000 and $6,000 to equip the district's 11 boilers with double safety devices to prevent a recurrence of the Westmoor fire box explosion.

SCHOOL ENTERED

County Anti-Crime Campaign Planned

A county-wide campaign aimed at stopping crime and delinquency before they start will be started at a "town hall" meeting June 4 at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, Belmont.

Eleanore D. Nettle of San

Expenses Furore Started

Charges of financial misfeasance among members of the California Legislature have been made by Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City.

Britschgi has contended that members are drawing living expense money in Sacramento while spending their time campaigning at home.

The charges have burned some of the members, coming at a time when the Assembly membership is pressing the Senate for favorable action on a constitutional amendment giving the legislators power to increase their own salaries.

The legislators apparently fear the voters will look with disfavor on a salary increase of from $6,000 to $18,000 if they are accused of raiding the treasury. The members are allegedly excused from legislative meetings by "absence on legislative business" privileges. This excuse allows their absence without forfeiture of the $21-per-day living expense money paid them.

Britschgi launched the campaign after hearing Assemblyman Marvin D. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, tell the rules committee that he planned to be absent after May 1 to campaign in Los Angeles County. He is a candidate for one of the new state senate seats in that county. Britschgi is a member of the rules committee.

Dymally has since been collecting the $21 a day. His explanation was registered as "legislative business elsewhere."

Britschgi's irritation multiplied Friday when 25 of the 80 assembly members were absent from legislative session. Action on various proposals had to be postponed.

Dymally defended his absence through an aide, saying he was in his district meeting with groups on legislative problems and that he had contacted various agencies relative to problems of his constituents.

More than a dozen senators used the same explanation last Friday. Most of them collected the $21 a day.

Youths Held Beer Bust In an Office

Sheriff's investigators were trying to learn today where a dozen Menlo-Atherton High School boys got all that beer that they put away last Friday at what was supposed to be a "cake and ice cream" party.

The beer, 150 cans of it, plus 15 bottles of cough syrup, provided the makings for a party in the office of one of the boys' father on the El Camino Real "Strip" south of Redwood City.

Four 18-year-olds were booked at county jail on charges of drunkenness and contributing to the delinquency of minors, and eight 16 and 17-year-olds were taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

Deputy Frank Bastasini said he was called to investigate a report that boys were breaking into parked cars. He found no evidence of that, but did find one boy who appeared to be drunk, he said. The youth, William Frederick Harworth, 18, of 99 Victoria Drive, Atherton, told deputies that he had been at a party in his father's office at 2881 El Camino Real. He explained that he had invited a few of his high school friends for a cake and ice cream party. His father, the youth said, was in the Philippines.

Bastasini said the office was littered with empty beer cans and cough syrup bottles, and the boys were "unco-operative and belligerent." He radioed for help.

Booked at county jail in addition to Harworth were: Larry John Russell, 18, of 1839 Santa Cruz Avenue, Menlo Park; Michael Wayne Anderson, 18, of 604 Ninth Avenue, Menlo Park; Scott Winfield Jones, 18, of 950 Regent Court, Redwood City. All were freed on $276 bail each and are scheduled to appear in court May 23.

D.C. Collegian Elected at SFS

Students majoring in the School of Creative Arts at San Francisco State College have chosen Stephen Attell of Daly City to represent them on next year's student body legislature.

He is the son of Claude Attell, 44 Westmont Drive.

Attell, 22, is a senior majoring in industrial arts.

The Associated Students Legislature is composed of about 20 students representing various segments of the 16,000-member student body community.

Elegant and Easy Company Dessert

Looking for a new dessert recipe to serve company? Then we suggest this one for Chocolate Cream Slices.

The recipe has many assets. To your guests, the most obvious one will be the delicious taste. But, you will know that Chocolate Cream Slices has hidden assets, too.

What are they? First of all, it is the type of dessert that can be made ahead of time. Secondly, the recipe will easily serve a large crowd. Its third hidden asset is appearance. Chocolate Cream Slices is the type of recipe that looks magnificent but requires little effort on your part to make it look that way. Chocolate Cream Slices allow you to take it easy and enjoy your guests at the same time.

Chocolate Cream Slices

- 1 cup finely chopped blanched almonds
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1 cup cocoa
- 1 cup butter (2 sticks)
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
- 24 lady fingers, split lengthwise, or 24 pound cake fingers (3 inches long, 3/4 inch wide and 1/2 inch thick)

Whipped cream for garnishing, optional.

Line buttered 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan with aluminum foil or waxed paper; leave 1-1/2-inch overhang on all sides. Butter foil. Arrange 8 lady finger halves or sponge cake strips about 1/2-inch apart over bottom and sides of pan. Toast almonds in 2 tablespoons butter over low heat until a golden brown, stirring constantly. Drain and cool. Sift together sugar and cocoa. Cream butter until soft. Continue beating; add sugar-cocoa mixture, a small amount at a time. Add vanilla and eggs, one at a time; beat well after each addition. Fold in nuts and whipped cream. Spread one third of chocolate mixture over lady fingers in bottom of pan; press a layer of lady fingers or cake pieces into mixture; repeat twice. Chill thoroughly 4 hours or overnight. Slice and serve as is or with additional whipped cream. Makes 12 to 20 servings. Wrap and store leftover dessert in refrigerator.

Instant Potatoes—Curried and Curled

Everyday foods—potatoes, perhaps—challenge an inventive cook the most. To aid her adventure the Borden Kitchen created this Curried Potato-Mushroom Casserole with all the convenience and low-cost of instant whipped potatoes, always ready-to-use cottage cheese and canned mushrooms. On the side: flaky hot rolls.

Curried Potato-Mushroom Casserole
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

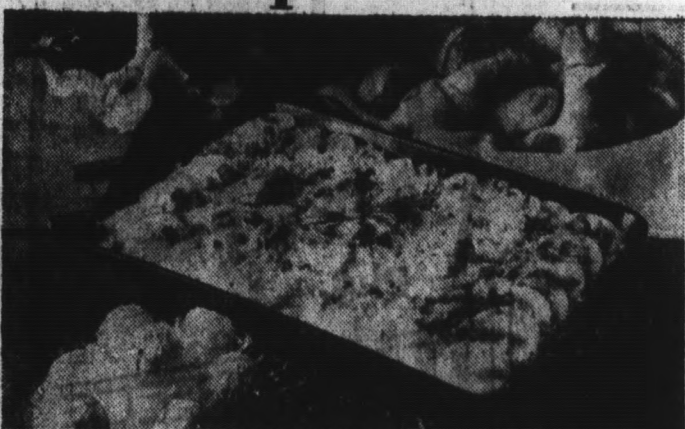

- 1/4 cup PLUS 2 tablespoons butter, or new Danish margarine
- 1-1/2 cups (three 4-oz. cans) fancy sliced button mushrooms, well drained
- 1 cup very thinly sliced onions
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1 cup (8-oz. pkg.) small curd creamed cottage cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1/4 cup dry sherry
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash black pepper

Curried Potatoes:

- 1 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup homogenized milk
- 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
- 1-1/4 cups (one section of 4-1/8-oz. box) instant whipped potatoes, (dry flakes)

In a heavy skillet, melt 1/4 cup butter or margarine over low heat. Add mushrooms and onions; sauté 10 minutes, or until tender. Stir in flour. Add cottage cheese, parsley, sherry, salt and pepper; mix well. Turn mixture into an ungreased 9-inch square or oval casserole. In a medium-size saucepan, combine water, salt and remaining butter or margarine; bring to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in milk and curry powder. Add potato flakes; stir gently until flakes are soft and moist. Beat briskly with a fork or wire whisk. With decorating bag, pipe potatoes over top and around sides of mushroom casserole. Place under broiler (about 6-inches from flame) 5 minutes, or until potatoes are lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Fish and Cheese Make Up a Feast

Rousing good meals without meat put a feather in any cook's cap. With cheese, mainstay of such meatless menus, it's an accomplishment within the reach of all. In this Scalloped Cheese 'N' Tuna, developed by the Borden Kitchen, American cheese teams with eggs, tuna, and, for the smooth creamy sauce, nonfat dry milk. Complement with a vegetable, green salad, and flaky butter crescents.

Scalloped Cheese 'N' Tuna
(Makes 5 to 6 servings)

- 1/2 cup butter or new Danish margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon dehydrated minced onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2/3 cup milk
- 1-3/4 cups water
- 2 cups (1/4 of 2 pound loaf) processed American cheese, shredded
- 2 (7-oz.) cans flaked tuna
- 6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

In a medium-size saucepan, over medium heat, melt butter. Add green pepper, onion and salt; sauté until tender. Blend in flour. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk over water; stir to blend. Gradually stir milk into vegetable-flour mixture. Stir constantly and cook until thickened and smooth. Add cheese; stir until melted. In a 12 x 7-1/2 x 2-inch baking dish, make a layer of tuna fish, hard-cooked egg slices and cheese sauce; repeat to make second layer. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 20 minutes, or until light golden brown. If desired, one or two egg yolks may be reserved and used to sieve over top of finished casserole as a garnish.

Bread and Butter Gifts for Hostess

You'll be the dinner guest most in demand if you show up with goodies like these for your hostess. They're literally bread and butter gifts: individual loaves baked in tiny pans, and flavored butters to go with them. Best of all, convenient hot roll mix speeds baking — one package makes eight Little Leaves. To leave time free for pre-party primping, bake ahead and freeze loaves. Just remove baked breads from pans, cool completely, wrap immediately in heavy-duty aluminum foil and freeze — up to 2½ - 3 months.

Little Leaves

Prepare 1 package hot roll mix following Easy Directions on package. Knead on lightly floured surface 5 to 7 minutes until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl; cover. Let rise in warm place (85° to 90° F.) until light and doubled in size, 30 to 60 minutes. Divide dough into 8 portions. Shape each portion into a small loaf and place in well-greased individual loaf pan or doll baking pan (about 1 cup capacity). Let rise in warm place until dough is rounded above top of pan, 30 to 60 minutes. Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes, until deep golden brown. Turn out of pan immediately.

Honey-Orange Whip: Cream ¼ cup butter until light and fluffy. Add 2 teaspoons grated orange rind. Gradually add ¼ cup honey, beating until well blended. Festive Olive Spread: Beat ½ cup soft butter and 2 tablespoons milk or cream until light and fluffy. Stir in 2 tablespoons thinly sliced stuffed green olives. Whipped Herb Butter: Combine ½ cup soft butter, 2 tablespoons milk or cream, 1 teaspoon parsley flakes, ¼ teaspoon oregano, and ¼ teaspoon garlic salt. Beat until light and fluffy.

Powdered Cream Can Aid Cooking

How long has it been since you've thought of making an old-fashioned, golden-brown, baked corn pudding? It's a man-pleaser, all right, and easier than pie when you have the new non-dairy creamer. Pream, on your pantry shelf to speed up the making of the rich, custard sauce here.

Developed originally as a full-flavored, instantly soluble creamer for coffee, this entirely new-formula powdered creamer has been winning widespread approval as an exceptionally rich-tasting replacement for perishable fresh cream in cooking. Try this new-fashioned way to fix an old-fashioned favorite ... and be ready for a treat.

Baked Corn Pudding
3 tablespoons butter 1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour ½ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup new non-dairy Pream 2½ cups cooked or canned whole kernel corn
1½ cups boiling water 3 eggs, well beaten

Preheat oven to 350°F. In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, melt butter until frothy. Blend in flour with wire whip; cook 1 minute without coloring. Add Pream and boiling water all at once, stirring to blend. Remove from heat; add salt, pepper, corn and well beaten eggs. Pour into a lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Set in pan of hot water; bake 1 hour, or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Serve hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Enrichment of 'Staff of Life' 25 Years Old — Here's Some Recipes

Today, most of us take enriched bread so for granted that we would be hard put to say just when enriched bread came into being, or how important the enrichment of bread is to the health of the nation.

For those of you who don't know, the enrichment program was launched formally at the National Nutrition Conference for Defense held in Washington, D.C., on May 26-28, 1941. To this day bread supplies a significant portion of our essential nutrients.

On this 25th anniversary of the enrichment of bread and flour, it is wise to take stock of our blessings. Enrichment has virtually eliminated the deficiency diseases of the 1930's when 45 million Americans were living on nutritionally inadequate diets considered below health's safety line. By 1955 beriberi and pellagra had disappeared from the list of reportable diseases and today an estimate of the nutritive value of America's food supply (1963-1964) has indicated that cereal enrichment adds about 1-3 more thiamine, 1-5 more iron and niacin and 1-10 more riboflavin to the nation's diet than would be available if foods were not enriched.

An anniversary collection of recipes using enriched bread are given here—a sandwich loaf frosted and decorated for state occasions, a new well seasoned bread stuffing for poultry and game, fruit tarts made with toast cup tart shells and a supremely delicious custard bread pudding.

Roast Stuffed Chicken
(basic directions)
1 (4 to 6-pound) roasting bird
Salt
Herb stuffing
1 tablespoon margarine, melted

Thaw bird, if frozen, in wrapper either in refrigerator about 36 hours, or in cool tap water for about 3 hours, changing water frequently. Remove wrapper, neck and giblets; wash, drain and wipe dry. Fill neck cavity loosely with stuffing. Fold neck skin back and fasten to back with poultry pin, small skewer or pick. Hook wings back and under breast, if desired. Fill body cavity loosely with stuffing. Close opening one of three ways:

1. Place poultry pins across opening and lace with string, criss-crossing as for shoes.
2. Crumble a piece of foil and place inside opening.
3. Sew together using a needle and string.

Place bird breast side up in shallow roasting pan. Brush with melted margarine. Roast uncovered in 325 degrees F. (slow) oven until leg joints move easily, about 40 minutes per pound, 2 1/2 to 4 hours. Baste once with drippings in pan about 5 minutes before bird is done. Remove bird from pan; let stand 10 to 15 minutes for easier carving. Meanwhile prepare gravy.

Gravy: Pour off fat from roasting pan. Return two tablespoons to pan. Add 2 cups water or giblet broth or vegetable stock. Stir and cook over medium heat, scraping pan to loosen brown bits. Remove from heat. Blend 1/4 cup water into 2 tablespoons corn starch. Stir into liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until gravy boils; boil 1 minute. Season to taste. Stir in chopped giblets, if desired. Makes 2 cups.

Note: If bird is not stuffed, roast 30 minutes per pound.

Herb Stuffing
1/4 cup margarine
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon crushed marjoram leaves
2 1/2 cups enriched bread cubes, toasted

Melt margarine in skillet. Add chopped vegetables; cover and cook over low heat 10 minutes. Add vegetables, parsley flakes, salt and marjoram to bread cubes. Toss until well mixed. Makes 2 cups, enough for 1 (4 to 6-pound) roasting bird.

Custard Bread Pudding
1/4 cup raisins
1 tablespoon kirsch, or other liqueur or lemon juice
2 cups milk
2 eggs
2 egg yolks (or 1 egg)
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups soft, medium-fine enriched bread crumbs (6 slices)
1 tablespoon margarine, melted
2 tablespoons sugar

When preheating oven, set a pan of water in oven to serve as water bath for pudding. Soak raisins in warm water to plump. Drain. Discard water. Pour liqueur over raisins and set aside. Scald milk and let cool slightly. Beat egg and yolks slightly. Gradually stir in light corn syrup and vanilla, then milk. Strain. Stir in raisins and liqueur, then 1/4 of the bread crumbs. Pour into 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Toss remaining crumbs with melted margarine and place lightly on top of baking dish. Sprinkle sugar over crumbs. Place in hot water in pan in oven. Bake in a 350 degree F. (moderate) oven 50 to 60 minutes, or until a knife inserted into center comes out clean. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Peanut Butter French Toast
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
8 slices enriched white bread
Creamy or chunk style peanut butter

Beat egg and combine with milk. Spread 4 bread slices generously with peanut butter; top each with second bread slice. Dip sandwiches into egg mixture. Cook on well greased grid-iron or in margarine in skillet, turning once, until browned on both sides. Makes 4 servings.

Apricot Custard Tarts
14 to 15 thin slices enriched bread
Margarine
1 recipe custard filling
1 (1-pound) can apricot halves, drained
Seeded or seedless grapes
1 recipe glaze

Trim crusts from bread. Spread one side of bread with margarine. Fit into medium (2 1/4 x 1 1/4-inch) muffin pans, margarine side up, pressing down to form cup. Toast in a 375 degree F. (moderate) oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Fill each cup with about 2 tablespoons custard filling. Place apricot half on top of custard, cut side up. Fill centers with grapes. Cover with glaze. Chill well.

Custard Filling: Combine 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 tablespoons corn starch and a dash of salt in double boiler top.

Gradually stir in 1 cup milk. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly until mixture is thickened. Cover and continue to cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Increase time to 15 minutes if using a glass double boiler. Blend a little the mixture into 1 slightly beaten egg, then stir all into remaining hot mixture. Cook over boiling water 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in 1 tablespoon rum or rum flavoring. Cool 5 minutes. Then cover surface with waxed paper and chill. Fold in 1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Glaze: Combine 1 tablespoon corn starch and a dash of salt in small saucepan. Gradually stir in 1/2 cup fruit juice and 1/4 cup light corn syrup, blending well. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and clears. Remove from heat.

Frosted Sandwich Loaf
12 Slices enriched bread
Margarine
1 recipe chicken filling
1 recipe cheese filling
1 recipe egg salad filling
1 recipe frosting
Garnishes

Trim crusts from bread. Arrange 3 slices bread side by side on board ends, touching. Spread with margarine, then spread with chicken filling. Top with 3 bread slices. Spread these with margarine, then with egg salad filling. Top with last 3 bread slices. Press layers firmly together. Spread frosting over top and sides of loaf. Garnish with prettily cut vegetable pieces and pipe frosting around edges, if desired. Chill before slicing. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Chicken Filling: Combine 1 1/2 cups minced cooked chicken, 1/2 cup real mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chili sauce and 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Cheese Filling: Combine 1 1/2 cups finely shredded Cheddar cheese, 1/4 cup real mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, dash cayenne pepper.

Egg Salad Sandwich: Combine 3 hard cooked eggs, chopped, 3 tablespoons real mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon pickle relish, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon salt and dash pepper.

Frosting: Combine 2 (8-ounce) packages softened cream cheese and 1/2 cup real mayonnaise.

Salads Offer Wide Variety

When homemakers think of cottage cheese, so cool and white and delicately flavored, and a fruit to go with it the first fruits they think of are peaches or pineapple. For a change serve this nutritious dairy food with a combination of orange slices, grapefruit sections and melon balls or cubes. Arrange them around or top with a generous scoop of cottage cheese and perhaps add a plump prune or date for garnish.

OLIVE SANDWICH LASAGNE

"Lasagne on white, please." This is one sandwich order that could cause a lot of confusion in a short order kitchen. Better make this one at home. Start assembling in a large rectangular baking dish; first a layer of bread, then cottage cheese, a rich tomato sauce, big chunks of ripe olives and grated cheese. When baked, these sandwiches taste surprisingly like the real Italian.

Another Italian, pizza, made with refrigerated biscuits and a sardine mixture topped with olives bears small resemblance to our dear old tomato cheese friend, but it's very good and sophisticated enough for a cocktail party.

Another red hot sandwich is made with delicatessen pastrami adorned with ripe olive scrambled eggs. It's easy to fix and filling enough for father. Or just the thing for you when you're feeling dragged out.

Canned ripe olives are a great boon to warm weather dishes. They make a multitude of sandwich spreads twice as palatable. The old stand-bys of peanut butter, cream cheese and processed cheese spreads take pride in mixing with the olives. You can also open a can and have half a salad immediately. Crisp greens and a good French dressing are really all you need to complete it, but you might try shrimp and some crisp raw vegetables. Even summer casseroles can usually take on ripe olives and all for the better. The basic noodle and soup dishes need some variation now and then, as do the Spanish rice and spaghetti sauces.

RIPE OLIVE SANDWICH LASAGNE

These baked sandwiches have the meltingly good flavor of real lasagne with half the work.

- 1/2 pound bacon
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cups water
- 1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste
- 2 tablespoons hickory flavored catsup
- 1 minced clove garlic
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 12 slices white bread

- 1 pint cottage cheese
- 1 1/2 cups canned California ripe olives
- 2 (6-ounce) packages sliced Monterey Jack cheese

Cook bacon until crisp; drain and crumble. Cook onion in 1 tablespoon bacon drippings until tender-crisp. Add water, tomato paste, catsup, garlic, salt, oregano, pepper and crumbled bacon; heat to boiling and simmer, uncovered 20 minutes. Place 6 slices bread in 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Top with half of cottage cheese, then half of tomato mixture, olives cut into chunks and Monterey Jack cheese. Repeat layers. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 minutes, until lightly browned. Cool 10 minutes, then cut into squares. Garnish each square with whole ripe olive. Makes 6 servings.

EGG OLIVE

PASTRAMI SANDWICH
If you're fresh out of pastrami, you can top even bologna with these creamy ripe olive scrambled eggs.

12 thin slices pastrami
Butter
1 cup canned California ripe olives
6 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 slices rye bread
Cook pastrami in 1 tablespoon butter keep warm. Combine olives cut into chunks with beaten eggs, milk and salt; cook in 2 tablespoons butter, stirring until set but still moist. Top toasted and buttered bread with 2 slices pastrami; then egg olive mixture. Serve immediately. Makes 6 open face sandwiches.

RIPE OLIVE

BAMBINO PIZZAS
1 (3 1/2-ounce) can sardines
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon tarragon
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 (8-ounce) package refrigerated biscuits
Cooking oil
1/2 cup canned California ripe olives
Drain and mash sardines; combine with mayonnaise, tarragon and lemon juice. Roll biscuits on lightly floured board to 4-inch rounds. Place on greased baking pan and brush with oil. Spread with sardine mixture and top with olives cut into chunks. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 10 (4-inch) pizzas.

Food Shorts

Ripe olive mustard is a must. To 2 cups of Dijon mustard, add 1 cup ripe olives, cut into wedges and chopped sour and sweet pickles to taste. Stir in 1 teaspoon tarragon and keep in the refrigerator for all meats and fish.

Garlic flavored ripe olives add additional interest to your refrigerator. Buy the super-colossal California ripe olives. For 2 to 3 cups add 3 tablespoons olive oil, 3 finely minced garlic cloves and 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind. Let stand for a while before serving.

Pisaladiere is the southern French version of pizza. You spread the unbaked pizza with a layer of gently fried onions and lattice it with anchovy fillets, with whole pitted California ripe olives in the spaces between the anchovies.

For an offbeat breakfast stuff very small green peppers with canned cocktail sausages and bake until tender in a sharp tomato sauce with big chunks of canned ripe olives.

Original Pancake House Makes Pancake History

BEING A FOSTER'S ORIGINAL PANCAKE HOUSE "steady," BRIGHT LIGHTS would like to pass along a little pancake history which appears on the back of Foster's menus. Read slowly and "digest" all of it. "What are pancakes? Pancakes are the very old beginnings of bread and pastry. When should pancakes be eaten? Today, pancakes are enjoyed for breakfast, luncheon, dinner and even for dessert. Who are Les Hight and Erma Hueneke? They are the founders of the Original Pancake House in Portland, Oregon, who collected recipes around the world. Where did we get our recipes? Foster's Original Pancake House is the only restaurant in California authorized by LES HIGHT and ERMA HUENEKE to use the recipes of the Original Pancake House. No prepared mixes are used. What is sour dough yeast? Old-fashioned sour dough yeast is used in all our pancake batters. It is grown in Foster's kitchen from a culture of potatoes, flour and sugar, activated by a 'start of yeast.' What are enzymes? Organic substances created by nature to convert food into energy, aid digestion and reduce flatulence by acting upon the proteins and starches." Any Questions?

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY! — Edith and Lew Lehr are holding some of the many telegrams of congratulations they received when they celebrated the eighth anniversary of Lew Lehr's, the popular steakhouse in San Francisco's Marina, last week.

"SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE" in the way of entertainment continues nearly around the clock in the three entertainment centers of the SAHARA-TAHOE HOTEL, South Lake Tahoe, as preparations for the May 12 opening of the new $3 million High Sierra Theatre approach completion. PHYLLIS DILLER, America's only female stand-up comic, and the singing OSMOND BROTHERS will headline the show-bill in the High Sierra Theatre, designed to be the largest and most unique theatre-restaurant in the U.S. Opening night will be reserved for the press and special guests. The following night, May 13, will be a $25-per-plate March of Dimes benefit dinner hosted by Nevada GOVERNOR and MRS. GRANT SAWYER. The riotous CHARACTERS (brothers CARMEN and FREDDIE BACCARI and JOHNNY RICCO) return to the Aspen Grove stage May 9 for their fifth engagement since July. Sharing the spotlight will be THE TRENIERS, singing, dancing, comedy duo. Entertainment goes 18 hours per day in the Juniper Showbar, with regulars BUCKLEY & COLLINS being joined by PAUL LITTLE CHIEF and the WATUJI WARRIORS, the HANK PENNY SHOW and THE EXPRESSIONS.

SINCE OPENING THE TIGER-A-GO-GO CLUB, a few short years ago, the name Bill Gilbert has become as synonymous with the Hilton Inn at the San Francisco Airport as the huge jets. The current hit show starring George 'n' Teddy and The Condors, which opened last Tuesday, has been drawing SRO crowds each evening. Not to mention Bill's famous Tiger Kittens, who are known from one end of the globe to the other as being curvaceous beauties. ... Sheri Ashton, in the Moulin Rouge's topless show, has been on the "Maverick," "My Favorite Martian" and other television shows. ... Restaurant service, as usual, at Doran's in Belmont, this weekend, with many special dishes to please the whole family. ... Judging from the enthusiastic response of diners at Pancho's in Redwood City, who come here to see if it is really true that "One taste is worth ten thousand words," it's easy to see why the Mexican cafe is rated high on the ladder.

AN INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING MAGNET staying over at the Hilton Inn, San Francisco, between jet set flights, had a craving for Cannelloni. After phoning Larry Bertolucci, host-owner of the popular Bertolucci's restaurant, he sent his valet (by the Hotel's limousine) to the South San Francisco dining spot to pick up an order for 25 of his jet set friends. The following day, before leaving for Greece, he again had Bertolucci's make up a special order—which he took with him on the plane. ... The Saturdays are the swinging new musical gang at Bill Smith's El Rancho Palo Alto. The exciting four who entertain for the 9 p.m. nightly dance sessions, come straight from a long run at the Crystal Bay Club, Lake Tahoe. ... Shapely Judy Roe has joined the topless parade in the girlie show at the Chi Chi on SF's Broadway.

Now Try the New Milt's Texas Bar-B-Q

They might do everything in a big way in Texas, but so does Milt's Texas Bar-B-Q Pit in San Mateo. Owners Elizabeth Lichtman and Milton Roberts converted a service station into a spit and span restaurant operation that's fast becoming the talk of the town. Stop by and inspect this unique operation—you're sure to make a purchase. Am happy to announce that Sweet Potato Pie is a big menu favorite here. The many barbecue items are cooked over an Oak Wood Fire. Open from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday. Home deliveries are a specialty, with a minimum delivery charge of $3.

Seven Eleven Fun Trips, one of the oldest of the Nevada excursion tours, offers one of the best buys for long, fun-jammed Memorial Day weekend: A four-day, three-night package which guarantees your motel accommodations every night during the long weekend. For $36.50 you also receive round-trip Scenicrider transportation, plus a $3 refund value at the plush Sahara Tahoe. Phone YU 1-2700 for information and reservations. Many people are getting up groups of merry-makers. Departures on Friday night are from 606 Mission, San Francisco. Parties return Monday. Stay two nights for $28.

The Hillsdale Inn is a dining mecca for countless Peninsula and San Francisco connoisseurs who swarm in to feast upon the culinary goodies. It's a headquarters for many top names in show business whenever they are appearing in the Bay Area.

Mary Ann Hay, one of the "bright stars" on the entertainment bill at Nick's in Pacifica, has been hospitalized at the Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame (Room 728A). Know she would enjoy hearing from her many friends. A quick recovery, Mary Ann. Miss you and your vocal stunts at Nick's.

Avis Rent A Car, who dine frequently at Lew Lehr's, were so pleased with Lew's courtesies that they gave him a big, big plug in their folder on what to see in San Francisco.

Mary Winkler A Recent Diner At Italy's Paoli's

Last week, Bright Lights itemed that Mario Maiano, who owns Paoli's restaurant in Florence, Italy, thought it would be a good idea to advertise his restaurant in the San Mateo Times, with the hope that some of the Peninsula folks would stop by during their vacations to enjoy luncheon or dinner. Bright Lights mentioned that the first person to send in a card from Paoli's in Italy would receive a year's subscription to the San Mateo Times. Well, the following Monday a.m. mail brought this message written on one of Paoli's postcards (postmarked Burlingame):

"Read your article about Paoli's in last night's Times. I enjoyed a delicious Lamb Casserole Dinner there about three weeks ago. Does this count? Signed, Mary L. Winkler, 1440 Floribunda, Burlingame."

Miss Winkler: Since you were so alert, I am going to give you a consolation prize of a six-months-paid subscription to the San Mateo Times. However, your Bright Lighter will be waiting patiently for the first card postmarked Florence, Italy.

No Doubt About It Mary Lou Alvin Has "All Her Buttons"

Here's a tip with a kick: On your next visit to Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City, ask Hostess Mary Lou about "her buttons." This little lady has been collecting campaign buttons (and some date back to the time of President Lincoln) which she proudly displays to interested button collectors. There must be over four hundred in a cigar box.

Another interesting curio at Scotty Campbell's is a recently-acquired grandfathers clock of antique vintage.

PORTOLA SCHOOL'S NEW CONCEPT

Rugs, Soft Lights, No Walls

Large Room Has Several Pupil Groups

By BERENICE PALMER

When a visitor enters the new Portola Elementary School in San Bruno, he becomes immediately aware that something is happening in elementary education.

Gone are the hallways, the walled classrooms. Instead, is a large room going from one end of the building to another, full of color, and warmth, and activity. Soft rugs on the floor, muted lighting, and red brick semi-partitions, give it an almost den-like quality. Here, one might think, is a creative youth club or workshop, or perhaps a modern college library.

Portola Elementary School is built on the site where California explorer Gaspar de Portola first viewed San Francisco Bay. It is the newest school in the Laguna Salada Elementary School District of Pacifica, and located in Portola Heights, a recent housing development west of Skyline Boulevard at Sneath Lane.

Designed by Hal Crosby, of the architectural firm of Masten and Hurd in San Francisco, Portola is a culmination of a style trend that was used in the earlier Pacific Heights and Fairmont Schools. The older schools of Sharp Park and Pacific Manor are the only ones not designed by this firm, and these are in the more traditional California style.

Looks Expensive

What about cost, a parent

ISOLATED from other pupils in the unique "classrooms" at Portola Elementary School in San Bruno are these students, listening to music over earphones.

might ask? Portola looks more expensive than the other schools in the district.

Actually, Portola was built under the State Aid Program, and, in spite of appearances, the cost factors are the same as the other schools.

What makes Portola different from the other schools? Simply that it is physically structured to meet contemporary teaching methods. These cannot be compared with yesterday's "progressive education." In fact, today's educators shudder at the word. Progressive education was often one-quarter education and three-quarters permissiveness. Teaching methods used at Portola are actually in practice throughout the district, but here, the building is a functional part of the program, and what is happening becomes more apparent to a visitor.

Learns at Own Pace

What is happening? Each child is learning at his own pace, so it is progressive in that sense.

The large open-area classroom is actually made up of many activity areas between which, at various times, students can divide their time. In one section, a group of boys may be huddled over a microscope. In another area, three or four, with their teacher, are studying objective paintings pinned to the wall. At a circular table sit ten or more students with earphones listening to a tape on social science.

Around the corner, a student-operated slide projector is showing colored slides of ancient Greek ruins on a large screen. Several of the viewers are taking notes. A recitation or reading is being given in another area. At a table, others are studying, or painting, or taking a test.

In another section is a combination art and mathematics class. Colored threads are being sewn through individual cubes open on three sides. The colored threads, though straight, give the appearance of curves and angles. The artistic result is described by the teacher as "an outcome of studying Op Art and applying it to mathematics."

Enclosed Room

Off from the seventh and eighth grade area is a small enclosed room. Principal Al Haven explained that this study area also contains a schematic board where the team teaching concept is planned. Teaching assignments and individual student time schedules are worked out with color coding.

"Our math is completely individualized," Principal Haven explained. "The program is ungraded and based on the student level of speed in the upper grades. It is a tailored program and the student can go to whatever heights he is capable of." One child might do in two days what it will take another 25 days to accomplish. An evaluation sheet marks his progress.

In the first, second, and third grade areas on the other side of the enclosed cafeteria, is the same open-space plan. Here, three different classes are going on at the same time and there is more grouping.

DAVID WITT Caseworker

Caseworker For Mental Health Clinic

San Mateo County and a voluntary agency are co-operating to make a new service available to families in the Daly City area.

The Family Service Agency of San Mateo County, a United Fund-supported agency, and the County's Mental Health Services Division have announced the opening of an agency office in the North County Mental Health Center, at 45 Southgate Avenue in the Westlake Shopping Center.

Michael Miller, executive director of the agency, and Dr. Joseph J. Downing, program chief of the mental health division of the County Department of Public Health and Welfare, jointly revealed plans for the new service.

Miller named caseworker David Witt to staff the new office. Witt will offer counseling, casework and other services in the Westlake office one day each week.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Witt now lives in San Bruno.

He served three years in the U.S. Air Force as chief social worker at the Neuropsychiatric Clinic at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

The base psychiatric center is one of the two largest facilities of its kind in the U.S.

SCUBA Divers to Inspect Sewage Ocean Outfall Line

A team of SCUBA divers will inspect the submarine outfall line of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District next month, Robert Bernicchi, engineer-manager of the district has reported to the district's board of directors.

The inspection will precede a cleaning of the line in September when the Pacific Ocean is more calm than at other times of the year, he said.

The line extends into the Pacific near Thornton Beach. It was constructed two years ago to carry the district's effluent out to a point where the effluent wouldn't contaminate beaches.

The divers are associated with Dive and Surf, a Redondo Beach company.

In other district action, Daly City Councilman Francis Pacelli was appointed to the board of directors to succeed Councilman Michael DeBernardi.

The board then named Bernard Lycett, also a Daly City councilman, as its chairman.

New Hours For Social Security Set

The Social Security Administration has announced new hours of operation for its office at 761 South Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco.

The office will now remain open until 9 p.m. each Thursday, and be closed all day Saturday.

Other weekdays' hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., the same as at present.

The altered hours will continue in effect until further notice, according to District Manager Everett Eaton.

The change, he added, is expected to aid some working people in filing for Medicare between now and the extended filing deadline May 31.

HOME BURGLARIZED

Daly City police said Ronald Camara, 61 West Moltke Street, reported his home was burglarized Friday afternoon and $32 cash taken by someone who entered through the back porch.

Bernicchi reported that the new Westlake 1-A Pumping Station on El Portola Way had been completed 75 days behind schedule and that the district's consultants would be asked to consider if damages should be sought from the contractor, Baldwin Warren Company of San Francisco, for the delay.

The station will replace three present pumping stations. The building cost $37,000 to build.

It's Not For Subdivision

The Jefferson Union High School District will ask Suburban Realty Company, developers of the new Serramonte subdivision in Daly City, to refrain from referring to the district's proposed Serramonte High School as a school being built for the subdivision.

Trustee Raymond Milton told fellow trustees that Serramonte home salesmen, in a discussion with him, referred to the school in this manner.

The district, a spokesman emphasized, will be built to serve a large area outside of Serramonte as well as the subdivision itself.

Extension Bids Asked

Bids for construction of a million-dollar link of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway on San Bruno Mountain are to be opened by the County Board of Supervisors May 24. Plans and specifications were approved by the board yesterday.

County Engineer Don S. Wilson said the road is to be extended from its present end at Radio Road atop the mountain to the old Bayshore Highway north of the Crocker Industrial Park in Brisbane.

Eventually, he said, the road will hook up with Bayshore Freeway near Candlestick Park, providing easy access to the freeway from Daly City.
